MacArthur Thwarts Attack

Washington,
Feb. 4 (INS)

U. S. Official

By JOSEPH A. BORS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces, aided by a freshly formed battalion of bluejackets and Marines, reported today that they had repulsed another Japanese attack on their left flank.

The latest attack was another of a series made under cover of darkness and MacArthur reported to the War Department that it was "sharply repulsed."

Meanwhile, the Philippine defenders continued to mop up tattered remnants of Japanese which had landed on the west coast of Batan and infiltrated behind the American lines.

The defenders not only prevented the main Japanese force from sending reinforcements to their advance units but MacArthur's forces captured most of the food and ammunition dropped to the enemy fighters by parachute.

SITUATION CRITICAL

Nevertheless, in the face of the valiant efforts by MacArthur and his brave little band of men, the conviction grew in Washington today that the situation on the Batan Peninsula can be considered nothing less than critical.

The Japs are known to have a 10 to 1 superiority in manpower and appear determined to wipe out the American-Filipino army regardless of cost in blood and materiel.

AMAZED AT TREATMENT

MacArthur devoted a portion of his report to the War Department today to describing the reactions of Japanese soldiers which have been captured.

He stated that captured Nipponese troops told him frankly they were amazed at the humane treatment being given them.

MacArthur reported that the prisoners had been warned by their

BRITISH ABANDON DERNA

London
Feb. 14, (AP)

OFFICIAL NEWS

British forces have abandoned Derna, falling back 50 miles in two days on their coastal flank in Libya, a British military commentator declared today.

This was his interpretation of a somewhat obscure Cairo communique which said that Imperial rearguards had completed "their movement from their last covering positions" about the port, 160 miles northeast of Bengasi and 95 miles west of Tobruk, and had rejoined the main British column.

He would not say there was ground for optimism in Libya.

STILL ON OFFENSIVE

This source called that situation "extraordinary" in that the right flank of the British line has fallen far back while the left flank, made up of mobile columns, still was waging an offensive far out in the desert in the Msus area, around the bend of the Gulf of Sirte about 120 airline miles southwest of Derna.

"I interpret the communique to mean the Indian Fourth Division left Derna, presumably in a pivotal movement in a southeasterly direction to join up with the main body," he said.

The main British force in Libya was declared, however, not yet to have clashed with the Axis assault troops which now have pushed roughly two-thirds of the way from El Aghelia, highwater mark of Britain's westward drive, to the starting point on the Egyptian frontier.

The action so far has involved only patrols and covering units, British sources said.

U-BOOTS ON GUARD

An authoritative British source declared that the pick of Germany's U-boat commanders and crews had been shifted to the Mediterranean to help guard the flow of reinforcements to Field Marshal Gen. Erwin Rommel's North African army.

DUTCH CHECK JAP SMASH AT MAIN BASE

A massive Japanese bombing fleet attempting to smash Soerabaja, the United Nations' chief base of operations in the Dutch East Indies, fell far short of its mark, the Indies high command announced today. On the secondary naval base of Amboina Dutch troops still are battling a Japanese landing force.

(The Tokyo radio as heard in Berlin today claimed Japanese occupation of Ambonia, 635 miles north of Australia and flanking the allied seaborne supply route, had been completed.)

The attack on Soerabaja was carried out yesterday by 70 or 80 Japanese bombers with heavy fighter escort, the Indies command reported, and the raiders inflicted "very considerable" losses on the Dutch interceptor squadrons which took to the air to meet them.

But the raid caused only

RED DRIVE NOW NEARING SMOLENSK

Moscow
Feb. 4 (AP)

OFFICIAL NEWS

By EDDY GILMORE

A fierce renewal of the Russian power drive west of Moscow is hurling reinforced German divisions back upon the key invasion base of Smolensk, 230 miles west of the capital, the government newspaper Izvestia reported today.

It was said heavy fighting was in progress in several vital towns in the central sector, where front dispatches reported many villages and towns in Smolensk province already cleared of the invaders.

(The British radio said today that the Germans had been thrown back 18 miles south of Leningrad by heavy Russian attacks.)

The powerful Red army counter-offensive into the Donets basin at the same time was said to be progressing without check, with the Soviet high command's strategy of constant flanking and outflanking maneuvers keeping the German divisions off balance all along the line.

The Kuibyshev radio announced that "the German system of defenses" in the Kursk-Kharkov area of the southwestern front had been pierced "both in north and south," and that "the enemy is retreating with Soviet troops in close pursuit."

OFFICIAL NEWS

By S. A. WYKES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Heavy guns of embattled Singapore thundered into action today against the massing ranks of the Japanese invasion army across the Strait of Johore where Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell declared the enemy must be stopped cold.

Wavell cheered on the defenders of the mighty stronghold with the promise that "great reinforcements" of American and British troops are being sent to wrest the initiative from the Japanese.

He called grimly for a stand like Tobruk's to hold the hosts of the Mikado until that help arrives. His call took the form of an order of the day (presumably issued from his headquarters on Java.)

Gen. Wavell declared:

"Our part is to gain time for the great reinforcements we and our American allies are sending to the Eastern theater.

"We are in a similar position to the original British expeditionary force which stopped the Germans and saved Europe in the first battle of Ypres.

"We must be worthy successors and save Asia by fighting the Japanese.

MUST STOP ENEMY

Dive-Bombers All From U. S.

LONDON, Feb. 4 (AP)—Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair disclosed in the House of Commons today that the RAF is receiving its dive-bombers from the United States.

His statement was in answer to a question whether Britain was producing "any substantial number" of dive-bombers and how they compared with German types.

The air minister said a special new type was being produced in the United States and, without divulging specifications, commented that "there is good reason to suppose their performance will be satisfactory."

Hub Ship Torpedoed Off Maryland Coast

Torpedoing of the Boston steamship San Gil, a United Fruit Co. craft which often had carried passengers on vagabond cruises to Central America and the West Indies, was announced today by the Navy Department at Washington.

Naval officials said the freighter was abandoned after being torpedoed and shelled by an enemy submarine off the Maryland coast at 11:50 last night.

Two members of the crew are missing, the Fourth Naval District announced at Philadelphia.

Thirty-nine other members of the crew and one passenger, Stewart Winslow Condon, 26, of Roslindale, an accountant for the fruit lines, were saved. Four of the crew were injured.

The ship was struck first by a torpedo on the port side, the Navy spokesman said. The two missing members of the crew apparently were killed by an engine-room explosion. They were Beaumont Barbe, 26, of Antwerp, Belgium, and Secondino Casiro, 36, of Honduras.

The crew launched two lifeboats and the submarine then shelled the ship. All but about four of 15 shells hit the target, Capt. Walter W. Koch, 44, of Canasota, N. Y., reported.

A second torpedo struck the ship as it sank by the stern. A Coast Guard cutter picked up the survivors after they had spent seven hours in the lifeboats.

Radio Operator Robert S. Thorp, 41, of East Orange, N. J., was praised by Capt. Koch, who said Thorp rigged an emergency antenna and flashed several distress signals after the first torpedo wrecked the vessel's standard antenna equipment.

The Navy listed the injured as:

HILDEBRAND HALL, 19, of Honduras; shock.

IRVING DIMON, 30, Honduras, bos'un; injured hand.

THOMAS R. SHARP, 57, Elmhurst, N. Y., chief steward; injured leg.

ANTONIO COLON, 28, Honduras; injured hand.

The passenger, Condon, was unhurt.

The San Gil is the 16th vessel attacked by enemy submarines within recent weeks off the Atlantic coast. Fourteen of the vessels were sunk.

Of 3598 tons, the San Gil was built at Belfast, Ireland, in 1920 and is one of four ships in the "San" class owned by the United Fruit Co.

She was last seen in Boston on Dec. 5, when she sailed on her regular run to the Indies in the banana trade.

PAUL MAPSTONE, AUSTRALIAN VETERAN
Tells of Thrilling War Experiences

"200 Of Us Were Saved"

AUSSIE IN 3 CONFLICTS SEEKS CRACK AT JAPS

Two World Wars, in three services, wounded, partly deafened and one of the few of his outfit who survived the Libyan, Greece and Crete campaigns—an indomitable Australian hopes to round out his score by getting a crack at the Japs.

Paul Mapstone, yet only 42 years old, was discharged last year from the Imperial Australian Army because of wounds he suffered in the desperate Middle East fighting.

Two months later, as the only service left open to him for continued participation in the war against the Axis, he joined the Merchant Marine, and was assigned, by coincidence, to the same ship which had conveyed him home to Australia as a casualty.

Thus, he served two years in World War I in the British navy, 18 months in the present war with the fighting Aussies, and now has six months on a troopship and hopes soon to swing back into the Pacific as a merchant mariner, and perhaps get in some licks at the Japs.

This Australian from Sydney, where he has five children, skimmed over his experiences in this second world conflict today with an American reporter.

"Shortly after our government declared war on Germany, in accord with other members of the United Kingdom," he said, "I enlisted in the Australian Volunteers and was assigned to the Second Battalion of the 16th Brigade.

"On Jan. 10, 1940, we left Australia, landing six weeks later in Palestine, where we underwent strenuous training. That summer we were transferred to Cairo, where we got our first training in desert combat. That's a spot where one would enjoy a nice cool glass of beer instead of 4 o'clock tea.

"Our first taste of combat came on Jan. 2, 1941. It was my birthday. Along with British and Free French forces in Libya, we attacked the port of Bardia, which was strongly fortified by Italians.

"After nearly 15 days of exhausting fighting (and I was in the thick of it) the Italians sur-

"He is enlisting in the Junior Victory Army today and awaits orders to be of service to Uncle Sam. I am thrilled with this young enthusiasm and it's got me, too. What can I do to help this new organization? I know we can do big things toward national defense."

NORTHAMPTON MURDER SUSPECT HANGS SELF

NORTHAMPTON, Feb. 4—In a curious climax to the slaying of Mrs. George La Rose, 38-year-old mother of four children, the body of Alfred L. Rabideau, 38, was found hanging today in the cellar of his home in Eastern ave.

According to Police Chief George J. Bernier, the dead man had been sought for questioning in connection with the woman's murder and was viewed as the principal suspect.

Medical Examiner Thomas F. Corriden, who pronounced Rabideau a suicide, said there was a .32-caliber revolver in the dead man's pocket.

Mrs. La Rose, whose body was found yesterday in the abandoned Belden Textile Mill, had been shot with such a weapon and then her skull crushed.

The meical examiner also disclosed that Rabideau, divorced, apparently had made four attempts to hang himself from a cellar beam with a window cord before he succeeded.

BROTHER FINDS BODY

The body was found by Rabideau's brother, Samuel, when he went into the cellar to check the fuel oil and apparently it had been hanging there for many hours, according to the medical examiner.

Chief Bernier said police had gone to Rabideau's home yesterday afternoon, following announcement that Mrs. La Rose was a murder victim, but no one had gone into the cellar.

Radibeau was a suspect, the chief said, because he had been seen with the woman on various occasions in cafes and other places.

Following the finding of Rabideau dead, Dist. Atty. John W. Heselton said:

"The investigation of the death of Katherine (Mrs. George) La Rose has produced considerable evidence indicating that it was a case of murder and suicide, but vital evidence which leads to this conclusion is being submitted to experts for technical opinion. All other angles are being, and will be, thoroughly investigated.

AUTOPSY PERFORMED

"An autopsy is being performed by Medical Examiner Corriden. Associated with him will be Dr. Alan Moritz, state pathologist.

"Until the experts who are examining the technical evidence have rendered their opinion, and until further investigation is completed, it will be impossible to make a final report on the case."

Later a district court inquest will be held, the prosecutor said.

Authorities tentatively have fixed the time of her death at 3:15 a. m., following information given by several persons who live near the drafty old plant, long since bereft of its windows by rock-throwing boys.

They said they heard two explosions at that hour, but no one bothered to investigate. One man said he thought the noise might have been made by torpedoes used by railroad men on the tracks to signal engineers to slow or halt.

MAYOR LEWIS' ELECTION EXPENSE LIST IMPOUNDED

Records showing the election expenditures of Mayor Frank E. Lewis of Everett and the "Frank E. Lewis Campaign Committee" were impounded today after their introduction in the trial of Lewis on charges of alleged corrupt practices.

The court's action, taken by Judge Joseph Walsh in Suffolk court, veils the contents in secrecy until Walsh and two other jurists give their verdict at the close of the hearing.

At the start of the trial Atty. Daniel Lyne, appearing for Lewis, sought to have the case reported to Supreme Court for decision on questions of jurisdiction.

Judge Walsh and his two associates, Judges Thomas Dowd and Jesse Morton, Jr., denied the motion after a short recess.

The petitioners who seek Lewis' removal lost a motion to amend the original complaint when Atty. Lyne protested. James J. Irwin, appearing for the citizens making the charges against the Everett mayor, sought to correct figures concerning the number of voters.

After the preliminary tussles, 10 witnesses were sworn for the petitioners.

City Clerk John M. Carroll testified 21,828 persons were eligible to vote in the 1939 municipal election. This figure was used as a basis for expenditures permitted in the 1941 election.

Carroll also said the complaining citizens were all registered voters and eligible to cast ballots.

Carroll identified the returns of money spent by Lewis and a campaign committee and photostatic copies were introduced in evidence by Atty. Irwin.

The committee report was signed by Alexander Harry, former secretary to Lewis.

Lewis is charged in the petition with violating the corrupt practices act by excessive expenditures in the 1941 contest for re-election for a fourth term. Under the law, Lewis was permitted to spend a certain sum for each person eligible to vote in the 1939 election.

The trial is continuing.

Charged with assault and battery with a dangerous weapon upon her estranged husband, Mrs. Florence Picco, 25, of Woodville st., Roxbury, today was held in $500 for hearing Feb. 11, after arraignment before Judge Frankland Myles in Roxbury District Court.

Police said the comely young mother of four admitted stabbing her husband, Ronald Picco, 35, a fisherman, but said she did it accidentally.

Living apart from her family, the woman told police, she visited her daughted Theresa, 5, yesterday and the child insulted her. While she was reprimanding the youngster, police said, her husband interfered and scuffled with him.

During the tussle, she told police, she grabbed a long fish knife and ohased her husband upstairs. She said she noticed he was cut on the thigh and stopped the fight to apply a tourniquet and call a doctor, police said.

YOUR RIDDLE: WHO KICKED AND WHY?

Declaring "there is something mysterious here," Judge Charles L. Carr, in municipal court today, dismissed a socialite Harvard student on a charge of assault and battery on a policeman.

Dropping of the charge against Grosvenor Farwell, Jr., 19, of Park ave., New York, came after Andrew J. Gorey, representing Police Commissioner Timilty, said the commissioner was convinced it was "a case of mistaken identity."

There was no such intercession, however, for Raymond C. Stannard, 33, a tack maker of West Rindge, N. H., also charged with assault and battery on a police officer during the same melee, which occurred about 1 a. m. Saturday at police headquarters.

The case became a little involved when, after young Farwell's dismissal, the night elevator operator at police headquarters, George F. Thirens, testified he say the student kick Police Officer John Madden just as plainly as he had seen Stannard kick the officer during the tussle.

Madden himself testified at one time that it was Stannard who kicked him, and then that he wasn't sure Stannard kicked him.

But the officer said that Stannard—who allegedly wandered into headquarters while under the influence of liquor—did strike him on a shoulder, after which the men began wrestling.

The lawyer explained the reason the Harvard freshman and several of his friends were at headquarters was because they had found a drunk in the gutter and had taken him into headquarters.

"Over zealous officers" had arrested Farwell, the lawyer declared.

"Well, there's something mysterious here," asserted Judge Carr. "What are we going to do with this other man? Is the commissioner interested in his case."

It appeared that the commissioner wasn't interested, however, so Judge Carr suspended a sentence of one month for Stannard.

DEFENSE RESTS IN GIRL WILL FIGHT

Counsel for Gretchen Van Zandt Merrill, 16-year-old Brookline skating star, today rested their case following cross-examination of the girl's mother in the fight to break the $1,000,000 will be the girl's paternal grandfather.

Mrs. Merrill returned to the witness stand at the opening of court today and under direct examination testified her father-in-law had come to see her after her first separation from the late Abner Merrill in 1924.

She said the elder Merrill had declared he was heartbroken at his son's actions.

"He told me that I meant a great deal to him," she testified. "He said that Abner had been a trial to him all his life, but that our marriage had taken a great load off his shoulders."

Following the appeal from her father-in-law, she said, she returned to her husband. She remained with him until their final separation in May, 1926, which was followed by a divorce in November of the same year.

Her father-in-law, she testified, attempted another reconciliation following the final breakup, but she told him she could no longer stand living with her husband.

She told the court that during the early part of 1925, before the birth of her child, the elder Merrill was constantly talking about the expected offspring. She told of his joy when she promised that if it was a boy she would name it after him.

10 FLEEFIRES IN THREE GREATER BOSTON CITIES

Ten persons flefires in Cambridge, Quincy and Malden today which authorith blamed to defective chimneys and forced heat to combat the litter cold.

In Cambridge, three children of Fireman Lawrence Cocoran, Sr., of 31 Ash st., were edited with the rescue of two neighbors when fire swept a duplex dilling at 33 Ash st., next door.

Lawrence, Jr., 10; Dree, 16, and Martha, 21, remembeng lessons taught by their father dashed to their cellar for a ladar and put it up to the bedroomwindow of the home of Mr. andMrs. T. J. Duncan Fuller.

The Fullers made their way to safety down the ladde the quick-thinking children had raised.

Fire Chief Herman E. Gutheim estimated damage at $10,000 and said a defective chimney in the Fuller home started the fire.

Also forced to flee scantily clad were Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Spencer, M. I. T. instructor, and their three-year-old daughter. They made their way to the street without difficulty.

Whipped by high wind, flames shot high above a vat at the Proctor & Gamble soap manufacturing plant in Quincy Point when an overheated pipe ignited chemicals and threatened other vats holding thousands of dollars' worth of products.

At Malden, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kinnie and their children, James, 3; Mary, 2, and Sarah, 10 months, were routed by the first of two fires which levelled their home on Washington st. with $8000 loss.

After a chimney fire was extinguished, the family spent the rest of the night with neighbors, only to have the fire again break out and gain such headway that firemen were unable to save the dwelling.

Stamp Printing Delays Sugar Rationing a Month

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—Special "sugar stamps" to be issued by the government to registered consumers, will be required before purchases can be made under the pending sugar rationing program, it was learned today.

Each stamp will permit an individual to buy 12 ounces of sugar—his weekly ration.

A spokesman for the Office of Price Administration disclosed that booklets containing enough stamps to last three months or more would be printed so that the time required for the printing would delay operation of the rationing machinery for at least another month.

It was reported that the plan contemplates registration of consumers by families with stamp booklets to be issued to each member of the family regardles of age.

However, no more than one stamp per person may be used each week. This would allow a family of three, for example, a weekly ration of 36 ounces of sugar.

The OPA spokesman said details of the registration requirements had not yet been worked out, but that the registration would not be handled by local postoffices. Stamp books will be issued at the time of registration.

OPA said the rationing would be supervised by local boards, probably by the same boards now handling tire rationing but augmented by a member or members drawn from the food industry.

It was understood that retailers accepting the sugar stamps would paste them on "sugar cards." When a card is filled, the retailer then can present it to his wholesaler as authority to purchase the exact amount of sugar represented by the stamps on the card.

Details of the rationing are being perfected jointly by the OPA and the War Production Board.

NEW CABINET POST GIVEN BEAVERBROOK

LONDON, Feb. 4 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill created the new cabinet post of Minister of War Production today, an assignment aimed specifically at peak co-operation between Britain and the United States, and entrusted it to Lord Beaverbrook, one of his most valued aides.

The new ministry roughly parallels the office of Donald M. Nelson in directing the United States' war production.

Lord Beaverbrook is succeeded as Minister of Supply by Sir Andrew Rae Duncan, until now president of the Board of Trade.

Sir Rae is a British industrialist and a former minister of supply.

The assignments did not include Sir Stafford Cripps, former British ambassador to Moscow, who, it had been predicted, would be named to a cabinet post "which will come as a complete surprise."

HONOLULU, Feb. 4 (AP) — Thousands of water-soaked, rust-marked Christmas cards—many written by men now dead—have been salvaged from a damaged warship in Pearl Harbor.

The grim reminders of the Dec. 7 attack were mailed just before the Japanese planes struck. The cards were turned over to the Honolulu postoffice. All legible ones will be dispatched to their destinations as soon as possible.

WAR FUND NOW TOTALS $5,457,772

Prospects of attaining the $7,600,000 goal set for the Greater Boston United War Fund drive brightened today with the announcement at a Dutch Treat luncheon in Boston City Club that $5,457,772.06 has been contributed.

Employes of the Boston Navy Yard topped their quota with contributions of 115.3 per cent of their goal, Charles E. Schofield, president of Master Ass'n of the yard reported.

Franklin contributed 114 per cent of its quota.

General Chairman Maynard Hutchinson called for redoubled efforts by the 30,000 workers as the drive entered its final full week.

At the same time, it was announced by School Supt. Arthur L. Gould that the additional Boston schools had reached or exceeded 100 per cent quota: Girls' High School, Abraham Lincoln district and Hancock School district.

In revealing the work being done by the Red Cross, Robert H. Hallowell gave details of the task faced and performed by that organization after the Pearl Harbor bombing of Dec. 7.

$7500 LIMIT URGED IN RAID INSURANCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—Banking committee members indicated today they would urge the House to pare sharply the $15,000 maximum free insurance for property loss proposed in a Senate-approved bill to set up a war damage corporation.

The members were described as feeling that the top amount of coverage th government should provide free ought to be about $7500.

On other provisions of the Senate measure the committee was in general agreement, and indications were the bill would be approved tomorrow and sent to the House floor.

SPAIN ENVOY RETURNING

MADRID, Feb. 4 (AP)—The United States embassy announced today that Ambassador Alexander W. Weddell would return to the United States shortly to confer with President Roosevelt. Mrs. Weddell will accompany him.

A MESSAGE OF VITAL IMPORTANCE TO YOU

"Millions Are Well Fed and Still Are Undernourished"

WHY WE OFTEN NEED

THE AMAZING VITAMIN B¹ AS A SUPPLEMENT TO OUR DIET

A FAMOUS American physician once said: "The American people are the best fed and the most poorly nourished in the world." He was referring to the manner in which many foods were robbed of their vitamins and minerals.

Many modern foods are over refined and robbed of their vitamins and minerals. The bolting operation in the refining of flour is said to take 80% to 90% of the Vitamin B¹ and more than half the minerals.

Foods prepared in the primitive fashion of 100 years ago were said to be 12 times as rich in Vitamin B¹ as our diets today. To the average man refined sugar and refined flour furnish a large part of the fuel requirements of the body, but are lacking in the necessary protective elements (vitamins).

Government authorities say "there is a vast difference between maximum or best possible nutrition and serious dietary deficiency." Unrecognized and subclinical malnutrition is widespread and dangerous.

Incorrect preparation of food, certain food habits and poor planning of menus rob us of necessary vitamin and mineral elements. Scientific surveys have shown that more than 40% of the people of this country are not getting vitamins and minerals in their food sufficient to maintain maximum health and vigor.

BE SURE YOU'RE GETTING ENOUGH B¹

TAKE IT IN TABLET FORM

The best way to be sure you are getting an adequate supply of B¹ is to take it in tablet form. Genuine B¹ Thiamin Chloride, prepared especially for G. S. Cheney. Each tablet contains 300 International Units B¹, a definite measured amount. Other tablets of higher unit strength. Biologically Standardized.

WHAT VITAMIN B¹ IS and ITS VALUE

CONCENTRATED VITAMIN B¹ in crystalline form is the realization of a 30-year dream by one of America's foremost nutritional scientists. B¹ is now regarded as a highly valuable dietary supplement and has been eloquently characterized by its discoverer in these approximate words —the lack of no other accessory substance leads to so early, so profound and so universal disaster as does the lack of B¹. Described previously as the "mysterious vitamin," "the forgotten vitamin," today Vitamin B¹ is being used by doctors in the clinical treatment of vitamin deficient people more than any other vitamin.

Scientific journals, medical journals, magazines and newspapers, clinics, physicians, laboratories are hailing Concentrated Vitamin B¹ as one of the greatest discoveries in nutritional science. A 400-page book has been written about Vitamin B¹ and its value in medicine.

B¹ occurs in natural foods but the refining, preparation and processing of foods often leads to its destruction and the average over-refined diet of civilized man frequently needs to be supplemented with Concentrated B¹.

One of America's foremost physicians states that "Among the most important medical advances of the year 1939 was the fact that Vitamin B¹ deficiency is widespread and that Thiamin Chloride (B¹) relieves nerve disorders caused by the deficiency."

An interesting and authentic investigation of the effect of a deficient amount of Vitamin B¹ is reported by a group of Doctors of one of America's foremost clinics. They selected four healthy state hospital patients and fed them plenty of food but left out food containing Vitamin B¹.

Result was:

- Loss of appetite.
- Loss of weight.
- Insufficient hydrochloric acid in stomach digestive juice.
- Constipation.
- Pain in calf muscles.
- Electro-cardiograph showed changes in the strength and rhythm of the heart.

It can thus be seen how lack of Vitamin B¹ could gradually cause various symptoms throughout the body—pain in muscles and joints, lack of appetite, poor digestion, constipation, weakness and irregularity of the heart without the individual ever suspecting that his food had anything to do with these symptoms.

It would be well to remember the foods rich in Vitamin B¹, whether or not symptoms are present. These foods are bacon, ham, beef liver, malted milk, green vegetables, buttermilk and yeast.

To be sure of an adequate supply B¹ should be taken in measured amounts.

CHRONIC ALCOHOLISM

Special: Vitamin B¹ has been characterized as having a healing action on diseased nerve tissue and its efficiency in treating nerve inflammation associated with chronic alcoholism is spectacular.

Splendid results have followed use of B¹ in the treatment of certain forms of Neuritis. B¹ is recommended as a valuable adjunct to diet in pregnancy.

Clinics report there is no danger of over dose as system simply takes what is needed and throws off the rest.

(In cases of advanced stages of certain diseases B¹ is most effective when given in intramuscular or intravenous injections by a physician.)

Catholics Ordered To Cut Vatican Ties

By FRAU ELISABETH MEYER

It was soon after the German invasion of Russia when Adolf Hitler, backed by Heinrich Himmler and his Gestapo, launched the most savage of all persecutions against the Catholic Church.

Up to that time, the great German churchmen had, as I have described, at least reduced these persecutions to a minor form of tyranny. But with the outbreak of hostilities with Russia, the Fuehrer, obsessed with power, determined to put an end, for all time, to those he considered the "enemies" of the Reich.

Alfred Rosenberg

Pierre J. Huss, the International News correspondent who was in Berlin at the time, vividly describes the fury of Hitler's wrath. He says:

"Uniformed men of the S. S. (Elite Nazi Guard) and non-uniformed men of the Gestapo swarmed into towns and villages, dispossessing nuns and priests alike and driving them into the streets.

"Catholic orders of all kinds were disbanded; German families going to mass had to file past glaring S. S. muscle-men at the doors of churches, the cloisters of the convents were turned into dormitories for Germans back from abroad."

SPREAD TERRORISM

Huss described how Catholics who contributed to the church were subjected to terrorism; to telephone calls at all hours of night; to poisonous and threatening letters. Some, cracking under the strain, became afraid to attend church.

In Poland, the churches were temporarily closed; in Innsbruck, great Catholic center of what was formerly Austria, the Gauleiter Andreas Hofer, a notorious drunkard and man of evil life, forbade religious processions.

Throughout Greater Germany, roadside shrines with statues of Christ were stripped. A statue of the Blessed Virgin was removed from a shrine in Innsbruck city, yet regularly the empty shrine bore tribute of beautiful flowers, a silent and brave protest against the fanaticism of Hofer.

Raging against this "insult" to the Fuehrer, the Gauleiter posted guards at the empty shrine, yet fresh bouquets mysteriously appeared each day, and similar ones decorated shrines all over the city.

Despite the ban on Sunday services, thousands stood in line before the closed doors in silent worship.

All this persecution can be attributed to the Reichsleiter Alfred Rosenberg, the so-called philosopher of Nazism, author of inflammatory anti-religious books and, in a sense, the Fuehrer's own tutor in paganism and intolerance.

It was Rosenberg who originated the notorious Nazi phrase, "Blut and Boden"—blood and soil—the slogan of race and conquest.

According to his plan the Jews are to be exterminated as a race. The Church of Rome is considered an evil influence, a threat to the Nazi belief that the fatherland and the state come before all.

Under the Rosenberg and Nazi program, the Catholic Church must sever all connection with the Vatican and its world-wide organization; must become within Greater Germany a church where people may pray, but must abandon all religious observances, including the mass.

The Rosenberg plan forbids interference by outside sources; the Catholic Church must be subject and slave to the state, and hostility to the decrees of the Fuehrer constitutes high treason.

Priests must be without pulpits; the gospel may be read, but preaching would be delegated to secular speakers, appointees of the Nazi regime, trained in the doctrines of Nazism.

Rosenberg would particularly enforce the decree that Hitler youth camps and summer outings would replace all Sunday schools. Huss says:

LURES CHILDREN

"He has striven with might and main over the past years to lure children away with temptations such as free trips and picnics, coercing through party machinery those parents stubbornly clinging to the Sunday school.

"'Give me 10 years and no boy or girl in the Reich will as much as remember what the Sunday school was, let alone attended it,' he asserted to me back in 1935.

"On the whole, if the church of any faith is to function under the Rosenberg plan, it would do so only as an instrument of the state and as a national means to an end, like, for instance, the Compulsory Labor Service and without much Christianity."

New tortures devised by Hitler to persecute German Christians will be described in tomorrow's Boston American.

Vatican Has Proof Nazis Plan Doom of Religion

NEW YORK, Feb. 4 (INS)—A British radio broadcast heard by CBS said today that Osservatore Romano, Vatican organ, has found "what it described as an 'overwhelming proof of Germany's intention to destroy religion and Christianity.'"

The British announcer added:

The Vatican newspaper quotes a chapter from a book by a Berlin author. This is how it goes:

"'No good is coming from Rome or Jerusalem. Germany has two fronts against Christ. It is our task to wipe out Catholicism and Protestantism in place of a new creed more in the German form.

"'We fight with the sword against the Cross.'"

'BUNDLES FOR CONGRESS' POUR IN

SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 4 (INS)—The "bundles for congress" campaign launched by the Spokane Athletic Round Table to rib Congressmen who voted pensions for themselves drew a spine-stiffening gift for the lawmakers today.

Declaring "no sacrifice is too great in such a cause," a Spokane woman, who described herself as "stylish stout," donated her corset staves and they went into a bundle with Sally Rand's last stitch.

From a man signing himself "A Taxpayer" came a gift of his entire wardrobe—a well-worn barrel.

A miner in the mountains gave a pair of heavy wool socks which, he said:

"Will be just the thing for cold feet, especially around election time."

Another gift was a vial of lemon juice to be used as invisible ink in writing election promises.

The campaign has spread to Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle and other coast cities.

"Response here truly heartwarming," read one message. "One man has even offered to donate an automobile tire that has been retreaded only twice."

Effort Seen to Make Congress Look Silly

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (INS—Rep. Mansfield (D.) of Georgia, co-author of a measure which extended civil service retirement benefits to members of Congress, today called the "bundle for Congress" campaign a "fifth column movement and an effort to make Congress look silly."

Under the terms of the act, present members of Congress could, by starting now to pay 5 per cent of their salaries into the fund, retire with a sizable pension at 60, providing they had 30 years of service, or at 62 if they had 15 years of service.

Sen. Byrd (D.) of Virginia, chairman of the congressional economy committee, said the "storm of protest will grow very rapidly" if the legislation is not repealed.

NAZI SOLDIERS IN OCCUPIED AREAS DESERT

NEW YORK, Feb. 4 (INS)—Gen. Joachim O. von Stuelpnagel, commander of Nazi forces in occupied France, has ordered severe jail sentences, fines, and even the death penalty for refusing to provide services or goods requisitioned by German authorities, the British radio said today.

The broadcast was heard by the NBC and CBS listening stations. The Belgian Freedom Radio, "Radio Vrije Belgie," meanwhile reported group desertions by German soldiers, in Rotterdam, Rouen, France and Muenster, Germany. NBC heard the broadcast.

Scene--Corregidor; Cast--2 U.S. Soldiers

WITH THE U. S. ARMY IN LUZON, Feb. 3 (Delayed) (AP)—The scene is Corregidor Island, and two American soldiers—typical members of the hard-bitten forces writing a brilliant new chapter of U. S. Army history here in the Philippines—are discussing the war.

Pvt. Howe Williams, 21, a lanky, red-headed Southerner, begins the conversation:

"Hiya, sergeant! Any good rumors today?"

Sergt. Ken Johnson, a Mid-Westerner in his thirties, has a ready answer.

"Sure—a convoy a hundred miles long and 50 miles wide'll be here in three days. They're goin' to load a million men at Lingayen behind the Japs, while the B-17's blast hell out of Tokyo."

Pvt. Williams: "Sure, I heard those rumors two weeks ago."

Sergt. Johnson: "Wel, seriously, here's some dope I got from a pal who works in MacArthur's headquarters. You know how our help's comin'? They're buildin' a bridge from San Fransico to Manila—and they've already finished the first quarter-mile."

Pvt. Williams: "While they're finishing it I sure wish that Fourth Army'd hike out here across the water double-quick."

Sergt. Johnson: "Wel I guess we can wait awhile, privided those boys over on Bataa kaw it's comin.' They're doin' all right"

Pvt. Williams: "The American fliers at Rangoon are right on the beam, too."

Sergt. Johnson: "So is the Navy down in Macassar Salt. Those Japs sure are spread ut, an' one good lickin' any place oughta gunn up their whole schedul."

Pvt. Williams: "That artillery fire over on Bataa keep yuwake?"

Sergt. Johnson: "H, no. I'm used to it. You hear i poundin' them on the other sidee?"

Pvt. Williams: "Ya, we sure poured it into 'em i Ternate. That was my battery."

Sergt. Johnson: "Ill, I sure wish I could let my ally know I'm okay."

Pvt. Williams: "I bet mammy and pappy done forgotsey had a son. They probablyawed my corner off the dinnerste. Well, I gotta go write Tojname on some 12-inch shells."

Sergt. Johnson: "o you in Manila."

Pvt. Williams: "Mila? You mean Tokyo. If they ad us five or six airplanes we'll in Tokyo by the Fourth of Julyating that sookey yakee."

MASSACHUSETTS Businessman Slain by Bullet Shot Twice

The man who killed Leon Statkus rang the front doorbell first, then cooly walked through the house and into the kitchen, and shot Statkus down. At least that was what police were told. And right away they thought of the two youths who had fought with Statkus and sworn vengeance against him, only two days before.

And yet detectives couldn't put too much credit in this story. Why? How did the whole case come crashing down when an investigator rang the front doorbell? What about the bullet which had made only one wound instead of two?

The story of the Statkus case is a story of brilliant deductive detective work. Can you guess who the killer is? For real entertainment, for a problem taken right from life, read, "Riddle of the Bullet Shot Twice," in the March issue of Intimate Detective Stories Magazine.

rendered. During the fight, our brigade captured over 5000 men.

"Our campaign continued on and we took part in the siege of the Italians at Tobruk, where we were laced by bitter and blinding sandstorms. Those sandstorms gave us more trouble than the Italians, who lacked interest in warfare. From our conversations with prisoners, war had been declared against the will of the Italian people.

"On Jan. 22 our infantry brigade captured Tobruk and we had the honor of raising the British flag about 35 miles inside Libya. Our casualties were light and we were just getting steamed up for more action at Bengasi when our brigade was ordered to return to Alexandria.

"About the first of April we were given orders that we were moving out of Alexandria within 12 hours for Athens, Greece. We crossed the Mediterranean in transports, under heavy naval guard.

"In Greece we saw our second actual combat and it was disastrous for our forces, especially the three battalions composing our brigade of 3000 men.

"Near the Yugoslavian-Greek border, at a place called Bitolj—and for the first time in our campaign—we came face to face with the Germans. We were entrenched on the bank of a river and armed with machine guns when German troops began suddenly to arrive by the thousands on the opposite side.

"Because the water was shallow, the German commanders ordered their men to wade across the river. I can recall vividly the sight of the Germans carrying guns high above their shoulders as they waded the stream.

NAZIS SLAUGHTERED

"We opened fire with hundreds of machine guns going into action and blasting the invaders. In a short time the river was teeming with German dead and wounded.

"The German loss of life was tremendous, but still thousands continued to come on in the face of our fire.

"A brave little brigadier-general named Allen, commanding our forces, finally realized that we were hopelessly outnumbered and that the enemy was determined to cross at any sacrifice of life. He gave orders for us to retreat, 'every man for himself.'

"With the Germans only a matter of yards behind, we retreated into the mountainous country to our rear. Units were broken up, and by nightfall we had dropped back several miles.

"That night the word was passed from soldier to soldier that orders were to make for an embarkation point in southern Greece as best each man might.

"During the day German planes swooped low over the countryside, peppering all moving objects and possible hideouts with machine guns. We laid low during daylight and moved on in the night.

"Days later—how many, I don't recall—I arrived at a small beach and saw a swarm of small boats into which were pouring British and Greek troops. There were not many Australians, but I managed to get into one of the craft and we were taken out to evacuation ships.

"As soon as a ship was loaded with soldiers, many of them badly wounded, it steamed out of the bay.

LAND AT CRETE

"The day after we were landed at Crete, despite a continual bombardment from enemy planes. But Crete was like walking from one hot fire into another.

"Not long after our arrival, German parachute troops and glider planes with troops made their appearance. For four days, disorganized troops fought the enemy on the island. Then the Australian soldiers were ordered to go aboard an Australian cruiser. I managed to bag a few parachutists, anyway.

"Aboard the cruisers, we returned to Palestine, where we had first landed from Australia more than a year before. Because of wounds received in Greece, I was sent to a base hospital. Later my ear drums kicked up as a result of the continual shelling.

"A checkup of our brigade by Army officers revealed that out of the 3000 men, less than 200 were accounted for. I was one of five remaining from our company. Only 65 of our battalion were reported safe."

Last June, Mapstone sailed for Australia from Port Said aboard a former British luxury liner, converted into a transport. Wounded Aussies who were able to get around were doing guard duty aboard ship over some 1500 Italian prisoners being shipped to Australia.

WINS DECORATION

Upon arrival at Sydney, his home town, Mapstone was pronounced unfit for further military duty and was honorably discharged.

"I'll call everything square now," he said, "if I can get a wallop at those Japs."

officers they they would be executed by the Americans if they were captured.

The Navy in its night communique reported that a motor torpedo boat from Admiral Thomas C. Hart's Far Eastern command probably scored torpedo hits on a Japanese warship in Manila Bay.

At the same time the Navy said that a naval tanker, the U. S. S. Neches, has been torpedoed and sunk by an enemy submarine at an undisclosed spot. Of the tanker's crew, 126 were said to be safely in port, while 56 still were unaccounted for.

The Navy failed to explain how an enemy warship was able to slip by the guns on Corregidor and other American-held forts to enter Manila Bay. Observers speculated, however, that the vessel might have slipped in under cover of darkness.

The Navy said that the sailors and marines in the land battle war are probably a battalion of from 500 to 800 men who have been in that area since the start of the war.

The torpedo boat raid did indicate, however, that Admiral Hart's naval units still are contesting Japan's dominance of the waters in the Manila area.

It was the third raid of its type by Hart's speedy and hard-hitting "mosquito" boats. In two previous attacks in Subic bay, similar craft sunk two 5000-ton enemy vessels.

Today's U. S. Communique

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (INS)—The following is the text of War Department's 91st communique:

"PHILIPPINE THEATER—During the night of Feb. 3, elements of the 16th (Kimura) Division made a local attack on our left flank in Bataan. The attack was sharply repulsed.

"Our troops continued to mop up tattered remnants of the Japanese who had previously landed on the west coast or who had infiltrated behind our lines.

"These enemy troops were from the tartori group and the Kimura division and were found in isolated pockets. No reinforcements were able to reach them. The enemy had attempted to supply them intermittently with food and ammunition dropped by parachute. However, most of these supplies fell into our hands.

"Japanese prisoners of war expressed great surprise at the humane treatment they were receiving at our hands. They said they had been told we would execute all prisoners.

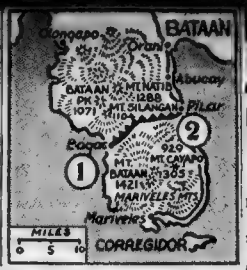
"On our right there was little activity during the past 24 hours.

"Enemy air activity over our lines was limited to a few sporadic bombing attacks which did no damage.

"NETHELANDS INDIES—A delayed report advises that seven heavy American bombers of the flying fortress type attacked Japanese shipping at Balik Papan, Borneo, on Feb. 2. Two enemy transports were sunk and a third, which was hit repeatedly, was probably sunk. All of our planes returned to their base undamaged.

(It is believed that this attack is the one mentioned in Gen. Wavell's communique of yesterday.)

"There is nothing to report from other areas."



PHILIPPINE FRONT—Two night landings by Japanese below the western end (1) of the Batan peninsula battleline were repulsed as augmented Filipino-American forces successfully counterattacked on the other side (2). Altitudes shown are in meters.

Aussie Fliers Blast Jap Ship

CANBERRA, Australia, Feb. 4 (AP)—Australian fliers scored a direct hit on a large Japanese vessel in a raid last night on the occupied New Britain harbor of Rabaul, an air communique indicated today.

One stick of bombs was said also to have scored a near miss on another vessel.

Several More Towns Taken by Chinese

CHUNGKING, Feb. 4 (AP)—The Chinese command reported today the capture of three towns near Yochow, the Hunan province base from which the Japanese launched their recent disastrous thrust at Changsha, and the seizure of two villages on the Canton-Kowloon railway in south China.

Other Chinese successes in the Nanchang area, in Kiangsi province, and at points in northern and central Hupeh, also were recorded in a communique.

BRITISH CHECK JAP PATROLS IN BURMA

By DANIEL DE LUCE

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 3 (Delayed) (AP)—Well-trained imperial troops hurled into the battle for Burma alongside native battalions skirmished tonight with Japanese patrols along 40 miles of the lower Salween river front, but a communique made clear that the Japanese thrusts had not taken on the power of a full-scale attack.

The communique disclosed that at least in some places along the river north of abandoned Moulmein the British still held outposts east of the deep, wide jungle stream.

One such British force was said to have met a small Japanese advance uni 30 miles north of Moulmein on the east side of the river.

The Imperial troops sent into the fight over the past week-end apparently were encountering only feeler thrusts by the Japanese—and holding those well in check.

They were supported by British bombers and British and American volunteer fighters who smashed time and again at Japanese batteries hidden on the river islands north of Moulmein and Martaban skimming in to the attack at tree-top level and encountering no Japanese aerial opposition.

Rangoon had two air raid alarms during the day but no enemy planes were seen. Some bombs were said to have been dropped on Toungoo, midway between Rangoon and Mandalay.

Price of Suits Cut In London Stores

LONDON, Feb. 4 (AP)—A board of trade order today promised cheaper suitings and more goods for clothing coupons.

The order reduced the prices of suits, costumes, coats and over 100 other classes of garments and increased the quality to give approximately 50 per cent extra wear.

Suits costing around $33.60 will now cost $22.50, and men's flannels which have been $7 were marked down to just over $3.

World Powers Race To Invent New Arms

By THOMAS F. HA'WKINS

BERN, Switzerland, Feb. 4 (AP)—Engineers and technicians of a world which now is devoting almost all its energies to war are fighting feverish battles in laboratory and shop in preparation for the third summer of struggle.

While American industry is gearing itself to produce tanks, planes and jeep cars, Italians today were praising a new tank which they said had proved a major support for Axis troops in their new Libyan push.

They say it is light weight, armed with a cannon of big caliber particularly adapted to desert warfare because it permits combat at greater range than British tanks and because it presents a poor target for counter fire.

While praising their own weapons, the Italians noted the Russians are using many "secret arms" including a "P34" tank of great tonnage with an armor which seemed to "defy any shell."

German anti-tank fire had been unable to halt these tanks, and the only way to combat them was to send in suicide volunteers with gasoline bottles or grenades to burn or blow them up, one Italian dispatch said. Their slanting plates shed all ordinary bullets and shells, it was added.

Two of them were captured since the winter began, however, and were expedited to Germany so specialists might study them for vulnerable points.

Now the Germans think they have found a counter weapon.

A dispatch from Budapest said the Germans are working on a universal airplane engine suitable to all types of planes which is expected to be in use this year.

The British believe the Germans are planning to use great smoke screens capable of blanketing a whole countryside in order to conceal their own movements of attack and confuse the defense when they start their spring offensive.

NEW JAPAN ASSAULTS

Despite the sudden flurry of artillery and air activity, there was no sign the Japanese were about to begin their expected attempt to cross Johore strait, and a communique described the general situation as unchanged.

The announcement said the new Japanese air assaults had caused some damage but few military casualties.

In the second raid on the island this morning bombs fell on the residential areas of the city itself and in the countryside.

It was acknowledged officially, however, that 22 persons were killed and 90 injured by air raiders yesterday.

At the same time it was disclosed anti-aircraft guns had shot down two, and probably three, Japanese planes over the island Sunday and Monday.

Taking advantage of each passing hour fre from atack, soldiers and civilians labored shoulder to shoulder todayto strengthen Singapore's defenses while anti-aircraft crews maned their guns to ward off Japanese air raiders.

CUNNING CAMOUFLAGE

In the tangled mangrove swamps along Johore strait, across which the Japanese were massing on the Malayan mainland, troops familiar with the art of camouflage cunningly masked new machine-gun nests, rifle pits and gun emplacements with which every chink in the island's armor was being stoppered.

Battle-heartened imperial troops, meanwhile, worked swiftly to instruct newly arrived reinforcements in tricks of war learned in the Malayan jungles, where for more than six weeks they fought the invaders.

British military men declared every day teh Japanese delayed in launching their expected assault would make the attack more difficult and more costly.

(A German radio broadcast heard last night in London acknowledged the Japanese would "face a heavy task" if they tried to take Singapore." Singapore still has enough and more than enough defense potentialities," the broadcast said.)

The raiders yesterday started a number of fires and at the day's end smoke clouds smudged the blood-red sunset, but all blazes except two had been extinguished and they were under control.

Net Tightened On Coast Aliens

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—Atty.-Gen. Biddle today designated as an area of sharply restricted movements for German, Japanese and Italian nationals, the California coast from the Oregon border south to a point 50 miles above Los Angeles and running inland from 30 to 150 miles.

The order is effective Feb. 24. After that date enemy aliens in that area must remain in their residences from 9 p. m. to 6 a. m., and at all other times they must be at their homes or their places of employment or en route between the two, or in any case within five miles of their residences.

"negligible" damage to Soerabaja's military objectives, according to a communique.

The defending planes and anti-aircraft batteries took a toll of "presumably" eight Japanese fighters and two bombers.

The high command reported in addition to continuing resistance at Amboina, where there still was no apparent decision in the heavy fighting, the Dutch were putting up a battle in the vicinity of Balik Papan, East Borneo oil center whose installations were wrecked well in advance of the Japanese landing.

The Soerabaja military airport and the center of the town were the principal targets of the raid, the first directed at the island of Java itself, while airports at Malang, Madioen and Mageteo, all within a 125-mile radius of Soerabaja, also were machinegunned. Four persons were killed and three wounded in attacks on native villages in the East Java area.

Bombs demolished 25 houses in Soerabaja, it was said, killed 31 persons and injured 139.

Yes, do take your friend's mother a gift. It should be a lovely corsage for her to wear at the dinner party, or a box of flowers.

Exclusive — MRS. ROOSEVELT SAYS:

Florida Defense

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

National Woman Director of Civilian Defense

ATLANTA, GA., TUESDAY—Our visit yesterday to Santa Rosa Island was preceded by a trip with Gen. MacGruder around the Army post. I saw old Ft. Barancas and they showed me the two fifteen-inch mortars, which date back to Spanish times.

They were surrendered to Gen. Jackson in Pensacola, Fla., when Florida was ceded to the United States. All this ground is historic and was fought over during the war between the states. When we crossed to Santa Rosa, we saw the fort which was held by Northern soldiers all through that war.

The soldiers gave me some copies of their paper, called the Barancas Breeze, and I think it is excellent. I had an opportunity to see some of the soldiers, both on the mainland and on Santa Rosa.

On the mainland they have quite a group of New England men, who must find even such chilly winter days as they have here quite warm, compared to the Northern winters to which they are accustomed.

I MET with the Pensacola Civilian Defense Council at 11 o'clock and was very much impressed by their organization on the protective side of civilian defense. Their system of communications is well set up and they have auxiliary policemen and firemen enrolled and trained. They have appointed their air raid wardens and they are now being trained.

As usual, very little has yet been done to find work for the volunteers in the community services. In Pensacola, the local defense council has only established a registratio. bureau and not a volunteer office.

I gather that a great many people have been registered and are still waiting opportunities to be trained and placed in useful work. The Red Cross people told me that they had just begun their first nurses-aid course. Their training in home nursing and first aid has been going on for some time.

I WAS ASKED by some colored women if I would come to speak to them about civilian defense in one of the colored high schools, since they were anxious to do their part also. I went there at 12 o'clock.

In the afternoon, some friends came to call at Lieut. and Mrs. Miller's, and later we dined with Capt. and Mrs. Read, so the day was a full one.

At 7:15 this morning, we started for Atlanta, Ga., but since Georgia is on Eastern Time, it was really eight-fifteen. We stopped for lunch at Columbus, and reached Warm Springs at 3 o'clock.

After a short time there, we drove on to Atlanta, where I am to speak tonight about civilian defense work at a meeting in the Civic Auditorium.

Beauty

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL—It's like tending cherished flowers . . . as Judy Garland is going about doing in her new home . . . to see a complexion through the perils of wintertime, says Arline Gould . . . and today she suggests a cream made especially to smooth and soften line-besieged areas around the eyes and throat.

BE SURE YOU'RE USING THE CORRECT SKIN CREAM

By ARLINE GOULD

IT'S HAVING a thing when you need it most that counts . . . the extra blanket Mother throws on in the wee small hours when you're beginning to feel like an icicle, and can't move . . . the thin hot tea that you seize on when you've reached a mountain hut during a skyline climb . . . and the JUST RIGHT, delicately rich softening cream that you can buy at half price when the winter is really beating your complexion down!

There are "weights" in replenishing creams, you're probably discovering through the trial and error method, just as there are weights in winter underwear! Some creams aren't weighted quite enough with fine oils . . . others have too much and too heavy a consistency for a thin, sensitive skin.

Now this particular cream, which is to be had at half price, $1, is unique because it is highly lubricating, with a rich cholesterin content, yet it is so fine and light in texture that it is perfect for the delicate skin around the eyes and throat.

There are fewer oil glands in the eye area and in throat tissues, so you should have a special cream to use there . . . and that's an inescapable rule if you're a day over 25! This cream is called "special formula" because it was MADE for these tissues.

They say it's a marvelous help in obliterating lines, and it will soften even those unavoidable "character lines" to the point where they're much, much less noticeable.

Maybe your skin doesn't yet have that "tight" feeling or a gray look, or those little lines aren't quite established as permanent wrinkles. You're lucky then, for winter's effects aren't visible yet . . . but they're apt to show up suddenly and disconcertingly if you don't prepare to meet them more than half way with this grand, rich but feather-textured replenishing cream.

For shopping information on this "special formula" cream sale, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, except the week-end, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

NEWS FOR MODERN WOMEN

• FOOD •

By Martha Lee

GLAMOROUS DESSERTS do a lot to keep up morale these days. If you'll take the trouble to borrow a few simple tricks from the professional chefs, even a beginner cook can surprise the family with picturesque confections.

A good starting point for your adventures in glamour is a tapioca cream pudding. One trick is to serve this popular delicacy with sections of apple made pink by poaching in red jelly syrup. Another is to garnish the pudding with toasted cocoanut—made by browning shredded cocoanut lightly in a very slow oven. Then there's the secret of a fluffy meringue, which also depends on very slow browning after very thorough beating of sugar and egg white.

And in line with good budgeting strategy, these glamour desserts can be made nourishing ones too. They offer an excellent means of incorporating eggs and milk in the family's daily diet.

A garnish of whipped cream adds still more nourishment and eye appeal. But if your budget has reached the stretching point, you can omit this garnish and still be sure your pudding will be tops all around.

APPLE JEWELS IN TAPIOCA

1 or 2 egg yolks
4 cups milk
1-3 cup quick-cooking tapioca
½ cup sugar
¼ tsp. salt
1 or 2 egg whites
1 tsp. flavoring
6 apples

Mix egg yolk with ½ cup milk in saucepan. Add tapioca, ¼ cup sugar, salt, and remaining milk. Bring mixture quickly to a full boil over direct heat, stirring constantly. Remove from fire. (Mixture will be thin. Do not overcook.) Beat egg white until stiff but not dry. Add remaining sugar gradually, beating with rotary egg beater. Stir hot tapioca gradually into egg white. Cool—mixture thickens as it cools. When slightly cool, stir in flavoring. Chill. Peel and cut apples in quarters and cook until transparent in red jelly and water syrup. Arrange 3 in each sherbet glass and top with tapioca cream. Makes 7 to 9 servings.

WALDORF COCOANUT CREAM

2 egg yolks
2 cups milk
3 tbsp. quick-cooking tapioca
4 tbsp. sugar
¼ tsp. salt
½ cup shredded cocoanut
½ tsp. vanilla
2 egg whites
4 tbsp. sugar

Mix egg yolks with a small amount of milk in top of double boiler. Add remaining milk, tapioca, 4 tablespoons sugar, and salt. Place over rapidly boiling water and cook 8 to 10 minutes after water boils again, stirring frequently. Add 4 tablespoons cocoanut and vanilla and turn into greased baking dish. Beat egg whites until foamy throughout; add sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating after each addition until sugar is blended. Then continue beating until mixture will stand in peaks. Pile lightly on tapioca. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 1 minute or until meringue is golden brown. Garnish with 4 tablespoons cocoanut, which has been toasted. Makes 6 servings.

CHOCOLATE HALF-AND-HALF

1 or 2 egg yolks
4 cups milk
1-3 cup quick-cooking tapioca
½ cup sugar
¼ tsp. salt
1 or 2 egg whites
1 tsp. flavoring
½ cup chocolate sauce

Mix egg yolk with ½ cup milk in saucepan. Add tapioca, ¼ cup sugar, salt, and remaining milk. Bring mixture quickly to a full boil over direct heat, stirring constantly. Remove from fire. (Mixture will be thin. Do not overcook.) Beat egg white until stiff but not dry. Add remaining sugar gradually, beating with rotary egg beater. Stir hot tapioca gradually into egg white. Cool — mixture thickens as it cools. When slightly cool, stir in flavoring. Chill. Fold chocolate sauce into ½ of pudding. Hold parfait glass at an angle, and arrange plain and chocolate tapioca cream in 2 layers, giving diagonal effect. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

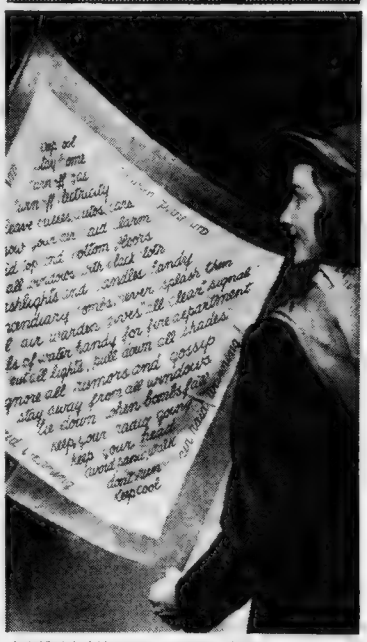
INTRODUCTION HINT

a boy is introduced to you, say, "How do you do?" Don't grass him and the girl who makes the introduction by saying, has talked so much about you!"

Fashion



WHEN YOU were very small, your handkerchief was pinned to your dress with a little gold safety pin, so you wouldn't forget and leave it anywhere . . . and today you'll tie across your shoulders the newest and most decorative "don't forget" accessory . . . an A. R. A. (Air Raid Alert) scarf! In clear, easily legible script, the red and blue lettering simply states the official blackout precautions. They're just as decorative tacked up on a wall or door as draped around your neck!—ANNICE BRINK.

PLUMP GIRLS SHOULD KEEP TO SIMPLE EVENING GOWNS

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THE FAT GIRL who yearns to look as beautiful as the slim sapling of a lass can do several things about it. The most drastic and effective is, of course, to reduce. Barring that, there are tricks of dress she can make use of that will help out considerably.

It is in evening dress, seems to me, that the fat girl looks the worst. She is under a handicap in choosing her dancing dress, because most models are obviously for the slender figure.

She may feel the injustice of this state of affairs, but that won't help, when she probably wants to look beautiful for some soldier. There are some do's and don'ts that are useful for her particular problem.

First rule is to choose a dress that is uncomplicated by any sort of fussy trimming. The full dancing skirts is very kind to the stout figure provided it is one that is circular in cut and full over the hipline.

The long torso waist is also good, but there are don'ts about it. Don't get one that fits skin tight, and don't have a tight, cinched-in belt at the waistline or a tight sash either. Some softness of drapery over the tops of the arms is very good.

REMEMBER ROSIE? . . . Not of the clan O'Grady, but of the socially registered Morrises . . .

Back in the summer of 1936 when the hard shelled arbiters of the exclusive inner circles read the name of Rose Morris in the Social Register, their blue blood boiled up into a lovely aquamarine . . . That is, after they found out that Rose, who was listed as a "Junior" under the name of Mr. and Mrs. George L. K. Morris of Lenox, Mass., and New York, was actually a pert little Pekinese dog . . .

Why recall all this? . . . Well, Mr. and Mrs. Morris who possessed the roguish sense of humor to list their pooch in the sacrosanct register, and cause consternation in select circles whose citizens contend canines should be confined to kennels, but really, are here in Boston . . .

We don't know whether or not Rosie is with them . . . After all, she had her hour, or her dog's day, in the social sun . . . All one summer she held her position with debutantes and plutocrats, until they printed a new edition of the Social Register . . .

The Morrises are in Boston to celebrate the opening of an exhibition of their paintings at the Institute of Modern Art this evening, and in turn Boston society is celebrating their visit by giving a dinner party in their honor before the opening . . .

Sharing honors with them will be Albert Eugene Gallatin, of New York, the third American artist represented in the new exhibit . . .

Artist Gallatin is here for two celebrations . . . the exhibition and the marriage of his son, Ensign Albert Frederick Gallatin, to Betty Neilson of Chestnut Hill, which takes place Saturday at Leslie Lindsey Memorial Chapel . . .

Mrs. Morris paints under the name of Susie Freylinghuysen . . . She is the former Estelle Condit Freylinghuysen, daughter of an old and aristocratic Gotham family, one of whose members was Secretary of State under President Arthur . . .

Her brother, Frederick Freylinghuysen, is married to the former Elizabeth Lyman Harrower of Boston, here for this evening's festivities . . . Mr. Morris comes from an equally distinguished Gotham family—being a nephew of the late Mrs. William Astor, first cousin of Sumner Welles, under Secretary of State, and a brother of A. Newbold Morris holder of important political positions in New York city . . .

Before going on to the Institute to view the Abstractions, trustees of the Institute will be hosts at the dinner party . . . Guests will include, in addition to the Morrises, Mr. Gallatin and Mrs. Frederick Freylinghuysen, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dane, the Sargent Colliers, Miss Aimee Lamb, Nat Saltonstall, Mr. and Mrs. George W. W. Brewster, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Cox, William G. Russell Allen, Miss Betty A. Bartlett, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas N. Metcalf, Dr. and Mrs. MacKinley Helm, Mr. and Mrs. James S. Plaut, Mr. Stuart Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hillyer, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hofer and N. Michael Plaut . . .

Listen, World!

SHOULD WIVES GROW UP?

By ELSIE ROBINSON

"WHEN I was your age," my mother-in-law snapped contemptuously, "I had three children, did all the work in my ten-room house, helped my husband in his business and wore a cap. A white, ruffled cap. All young wives did. Wives took themselves and their position seriously—then!

She stopped with an angry snort. I continued to sniffle. It was 1903. I was 19, just married, and wanted but two things in all this great world—to go back to California where I could dance, and to buy eight yards of pink dimity for a ruffly dress.

Simple desires they seem now. But at that time I might as well have confessed that I was a confirmed killer with four knicks in my gun. Dancing parties and pink dimity, indeed! And I a married woman.

From which you may gather that marriage in 1903 was a plenty serious business for a young woman. A BRIDE DEFINITELY AND FINALLY STOPPED BEING A GIRL THE MOMENT SHE SAID "I DO." SHE NOT ONLY STOPPED DOING THE THINGS A GIRL DID BUT SHE STOPPED DRESSING LIKE A GIRL, THINKING LIKE A GIRL, DESIRING GIRLISH THINGS.

ANY YOUNG married woman who tried to "stay young" and insisted on playing around was regarded as somewhat simple-minded if not downright immoral.

There were, to be sure, certain mature honors and privileges which were supposed to compensate for the sacrifice of one's youthful estate. But at no time was a married woman regarded as anything but completely and entirely a Missis.

But today! Pick up any woman's magazine. Page after page filled with information on How to Stay Young. And direful warnings to brides who permit themseves to look like married ladies.

How far we have come! Or have we?

Today the proud new bridegroom calls the Dear Little Woman "Baby" and she not only accepts the title but proceeds to live up to it. Thousands of brides air their troubles to the column every month. Nine hundred and ninety-nine out of every thousand have the same complaint—they're bored. What on earth are they to do with themselves now that they've given up their jobs and gone to housekeeping?

SETTLE DOWN and have a baby? F'revinsake, they don't want to have a baby—yet!

"Why, I'm just a kid! I wouldn't know what to do with a baby. And my husband—Say, I bet Al would be mad enough to leave me if I even suggested such a thing. Besides—I've got to have some fun first. I simply couldn't take it. I'd go crazy—honest I would—being cooped up all day with a baby."

"But your mother was two years younger than you when you were born."

"Oh, yes—but that was different. She didn't want to do anything else. We modern girls aren't like that."

And its the truth—they are different. But is that a compliment—or a slam? These pretty gay, carefree youngsters who at 30 boast that they don't look "a day over 16" . . . these "size 16's" . . . are they a blessing or a blight?

Play girls—and delightful ones! But what is the Youth Cult doing to the home, to business? To the human race? "Too restless to stay at home" . . . "too young" to settle down and have a baby. So what?

OUR DAILY CITATION: To Archbishop Francis J. Spellman who declares that more sweat in the war effort will result in less blood shed by American soldiers. His words of wisdom should aid in spurring the whole industrial world to more and more production.

ANOTHER ONE FOR THE BOOK!

DOMESTIC production of rubber in the United States, sufficient for all military and many civilian needs, is predicted by Federal Loan Administrator Jesse Jones "by the middle of next year."

According to Mr. Jones, synthetic processes will be producing rubber at the rate of 400,000 tons annually by that time.

In addition, there is considerable importation of rubber from South America.

And the production of Guayule rubber in the United States has very real and almost inestimable possibilities.

Since the most extensive and extravagant peacetime use of rubber in the United States never required more than 800,000 tons annually, complete and permanent American independence from remote foreign rubber supply is foreseeable.

This is of course immediately important because unfavorable trends of war in the western Pacific have almost entirely cut off our normal sources of rubber.

About 90 per cent of the world's rubber has been coming from the present Pacific war zone, and the United States normally consumed about 65 per cent of the total rubber produced in the world.

So the Japanese occupations of part of that area has presented the United States with an acute problem.

NEVER AGAIN should the United States be dependent for rubber in war or in peace upon remote supply.

Natural rubber is a native product of the Western Hemisphere, and in the early years of the commercial use of rubber tropical America was the sole source, and as late as 1912 more than half of the rubber used throughout the world came from wild trees, mostly in the South American valley of the Amazon.

The first rubber grown in the East Indies and Malaya was planted there by Dutch and British planters, who imported the seed from South America as early as 1876, and cultivated and improved the product until it was vastly superior to the wild tree.

Strangely, when the cultivated rubber tree was in turn seeded in its native America, it proved to be vulnerable to a destructive blight—with the result that rubber production in America waned.

To further establish a rubber monopoly, the British and Dutch attempted to prevent export of their cultivated and superior seed, and largely succeeded, but certain American interests thwarted this effort in part by establishing plantations and nurseries in the Philippines and Central America, and by carrying on experiments for eradication of the disastrous rubber blight—with the fortunate result that the RETURN of rubber to its native America is now possible.

Of course, Americans should never have let the rubber industry, and particularly the world's major production of rubber, get away from the Western Hemisphere.

The United States, which is the major user of rubber, especially should have been more alert to its own interest.

But America is now at last and swiftly and completely winning INDEPENDENCE from foreign rubber monopoly—and thus under compulsion of necessity is acquiring and retrieving an asset upon which victory in this war depends and upon which future industrial security also depends.

On The Side -t- -t- By E. V. DURLING

Somewhere or other there must surely be,
The face not seen, the voice not heard,
The heart that not yet—never yet —ah me!
Made answer to my word.
—CHRISTINA ROSSETTI.

FROM a Baltimore subscriber comes a request for a poem "The Maiden's Prayer," which she says is "about a girl who desperately wants a husband." We are not familiar with this poem, but while our search for it continues we trust our Baltimore client may find it possible to console herself with the above.

THE AVERAGE American woman is five feet three inches in height, weighs 133 pounds. So states a government group assigned to study the measurements of the average woman as an aid to apparel manufacturers. Style experts say the "ideal" woman measures five feet six inches, weighs 122 pounds. Michelangelo named as his ideal, five feet seven inches, weighing 130 pounds. The aforementioned government group also states the women of Arkansas have the best figures in the country. I went through Arkansas on an auto trip but spent all my time looking at road signs to be certain I was on the right highway. I don't remember particularly noticing any woman in Arkansas except one who passed by contentedly puffing a pipe as she drove a mule.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: One New York tailor says a suit, minus vest, cuffs on pants, pleats and belt can retail for 25 per cent less than the average suit. I am saving this to show my tailor when I go to order that blue serge suit I have been promising myself . . . Fountain lunch owner changed a sign from "pie a-la-mode 10 cents" to "ice cream on pie 10 cents" and doubled his sale on the item. This seems quite a boost for the practice of using plain English on restaurant signs and menu cards . . . A Californian has been breeding what he calls "baby beef turkey." This turkey is said to have three times as much breast meat as the average turkey. Sounds all right. As there always seems to be a discussion as to who should have the turkey legs on Thanksgiving Day, why doesn't somebody breed a four legged turkey and make more people happy?

SAID HE: Give a thought to what Arnold Bennett said on marriage: "I have noticed that marriage is usually the death of politeness between a man and woman." On egotism: "The average man is not half enough an egotist. If egotism means a terrific interest in one's self, egotism is absolutely essential to efficient living." On servants: "The woman who quarrels with a maid is clumsy, and the woman who quarrels with a good maid is either a fool or in hysterical condition or both."

PURELY STATISTICAL: In ancient times the average hen laid about 12 eggs a year. Due to careful breeding the modern average hen lays about 80 eggs a year. A New Zealand hen, the world's champion layer, laid 361 eggs in a year . . . "Always mistrust a subordinate who never finds fault with his superior," observed Churton Collins . . . How is this for a fancy statistic? When jam is used on bread it increases the consumption of bread 17 per cent. I have been a jam enthusiast since infancy. Blackberry jam is my favorite.

DOILING'S POIL: A Greensburg, Pa., client, evidently casting a reflection on my combination Brooklyn-New York city accent, has penned the following:

Doiling had a goil named Poil
Whose swoiling hair wouldn't coil,
So Poil got a poimanent wave
"Poil you're some goil" was Doiling's rave.

I believe this could be improved on and will offer an elegant postcard picture of Ebbets Field to the subscriber writing the best four line "Doiling Had a Goil Named Poil" poem.

JOAN CRAWFORD
Her Favorite Book Is "Jean Christophe"

PASSING BY: Spent some time recently reading Joan Crawford's favorite book. It is "Jean Christophe," by Romain Rolland. Miss Crawford's favorite columnist of all time was O. O. McIntyre and she pasted all his columns in a scrapbook . . . Billie Burke. It's many a year since Billie starred in "Love Watches" and "The Mind-The-Paint Girl." And it was in 1916 she made her film debut in "Peggy." But she still has her school girl figure, complexion, etc.

PLEASE NOTE: Of the Japs' ambition, actions and future the Chinese sum it up briefly by saying: "The camel set out to get him horns, and was shorn of his ears" . . . Who was it first said: "The Woman Pays"? Was a man or woman the originator of this claim? Anyway, gentlemen, did you note that a recent legal decision states that a wife may separate from her husband and take a job and everything she earns she can keep? But her husband's earnings continue to be community property?

BACHELORS: "Very few bachelors have made outstanding successes in art, literature, music or business," says my distinguished contemporary, Dr. Albert Edward Wiggam. Sir Francis Bacon said: "Certainly, the best works and of greatest merit for the public have proceeded from the unmarried or childless men." At the moment we have no complete list of successful bachelors, but can name offhand Robert Ripley, George Ade, George Jean Nathan, Edgar Bergen and Cesar Romero.

ASIDES: What are receptionists paid? Their salaries should be good as a cheerful, patient, kind, tolerant and intelligent receptionist is a great "good-will" promoter for an organization. A personnel expert told me petite, blue-eyed blondes make the best receptionists.

BOSTON after DARK

IN THE MOOD OF MODESTY which has typified John Boles' encounters with fans, press and the general public, the visiting movie star placed a shy U. S. ensign at his ease . . . The ensign and a girl friend were sitting at a table next to Boles at The Mayfair . . . He had waited more than a half-hour while a stream of persons thrust paper and pencils at John, with the usual request for an autograph . . . Then the young officer spoke up . . . "May I have your autograph, please?" he asked . . . Boles turned around, and saw that the request came from a man in uniform . . . ALTHOUGH THE HOLLYWOOD and New York Communists and fellow-travelers will approve of the attempt to unseat Melvyn Douglas from his job as publicity chief of civilian defense, their opposition will not be based on the grounds that Douglas is a Pinko himself . . . A woman writer, high in the councils of the Hollywood Reds, confided to this reporter (in the presence of another Boston newspaper writer) that the Communists hold a hearty hate for the blonde ladykiller of the silver sheet.

OUR INFORMANT, who was in Boston to view a play in which her husband was interested, declared that soon after Douglas stopped attending Pinko and Communist meetings in the film capital, agents of the Dies Committee and FBI men were suddenly able to put their probing fingers on exactly the right bells to ring in the Hollywood colony . . . The Reds, the woman writer said, saw more than coincidence in the sequence of events.

ASIDE FROM THE COMMUNISTS and pinkos, thousands of plain American citizens have been interested in the movie actor's role in this war ever since he made that Jovian speech shortly before Pearl Harbor's attack . . . Over a national network, Douglas declaimed: "If war it must be, let it come. Let it come!" and the bravado of the words must have made an impression on everybody—not alone this listener—who happened to hear them . . . Now—for the dapper Melvyn to take an office job is something of an anti-climax . . . We envisioned him as an American Commando, no less . . . Douglas has no economic restraints, whatever role he plays in the war effort . . . He has made a huge fortune, and has worked steadily at $5000 a week . . . And before he hit the jackpot, Melvyn had few worries . . . His wife, the former Helen Gahagan, was an active heiress to a shipbuilding fortune.

OUR OUTSTANDING PERSONAL OBJECTION to Douglas as publicity chief of anything—civilian defense included—is that he isn't qualified for the job . . . That

Due to the Harry Richman episode, in which Richman played the Latin Quarter here instead of The Mayfair, the strongest sort of business rivalry has existed between the Latin Quarter and Mayfair managements . . . After two splendid weeks at The Mayfair, Comedian Holtz adjourns to Miami, where on Feb. 13 he will star at the Cazanova Club, operated by Lou Walters, boss of the Latin Quarter . . . Mary Boland's radio voice, as heard on Dot Kilgallen's session, was so similar to Elsa Maxwell's to be amazing.

LIFE OF POE FILM ROLES SET

By Louella O. Parsons

John Shepperd

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 4—There's one biographical story coming up at 20th Century-Fox that Don Amecheo won't make. When cameras start grinding on "The Life and Loves of Edgar Allan Poe," John Shepperd will be the poetic, moody Poe and Linda Darnell is set for his "Beautiful Annabel Lee." Young Shepperd was a hit on the New York stage under his real name, Shepperd Strudwick. Last year M-G-M brought him to Hollywood for a role in "Flight Command" and before they could sign him 20th grabbed him on a long term contract. "The Life and Loves of Edgar Allan Poe" will be Brynie Foy's first production on the 20th lot. The "former keeper of the B's" (as Brynie called himself at Warners) is certainly stepping into the A's with a vengeance with this movie. Years ago D. W. Griffith made it—which you may or may not remember.

DICK POWELL is coming back to the movies. And I say it is high time! Dick puts over a song like nobody's business and apparently Buddy De Sylva thinks so too because he has paged Dick in New York to hurry back here for "Happy Go Lucky" with Mary Martin and Rudy Vallee. There must be plenty of crooning in this movie with both Dick and Rudy in the lineup. Oh! I almost forgot that Mr. Vallee doesn't have to warble if he doesn't want to by terms of his new Para contract. But I'll bet he sings a ditty or two in this. I can't imagine him sitting by and letting Dick do it all.

BOTH RONALD REAGAN on the Warner lot and Glenn Ford at Columbia have been discussed for the lead in "Humoresque," the Fanny Hurst story that won all sorts of awards when it was made by Cosmopolitan. He is so good that Jack Warner has given orders that he go into only very special pictures.

A LINE OR TWO: Diana Barrymore's New York heartbeat (she won't tell his name—could it be David Bacon?) is coming out in a few days to talk to papa Jawn about his daughter's hand in marriage. That's one conversation I'd like to tune in on. Since the New Yorker is a nice young man and there's no reason why Jawn should disapprove—there may be an interesting announcement of an engagement soon . . . Eddie Small has signed Charlie Winninger and Charlie Ruggles for the friendly enemies in "Friendly Enemies." Years ago Charlie Winninger toured with this show and they played a lot of training camps in 1917.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Ginger Rogers has gone to her farm in Oregon, but before she left she saw Jean Gabin every eve. Not since Ginger and Howard Hughes were talking marriage has she had such a romance. Her former boy friend, George Montgomery, is now dating Hedy Lamarr pretty regularly; Wendy Barrie and Peter Fairchild, the artist, the latest Hollywood duo; Barbara Hutton leaves for Florida to visit her aunt, Mrs. James Donahue, before many days; Ann Baxter, her doctors say, has been reducing too strenuously and so she is down with the flu again; Gene Tierney, who was to have left Sunday on that long planned vacation, has been held for 10 days' retakes on "Rings on Her Fingers." But Mrs. Ted Green of Ely, Nevada, says: "Buy defense bonds. Show elation and let's sink the whole d—— Jap nation."

'Son of Fury' At Twin Houses

"Son of Fury," which gives Tyrone Power opportunity to swashbuckle with an authority the fans never thought he possessed, moves over to the Paramount and Fenway screens tomorrow after a successful week at the Met.

Spanning three continents and the seven seas, "Son of Fury," based on Edison Marshall's best-selling novel, "Benjamin Blake," is a virile, thrill-packed chronicle of a man's fight for his birthright.

Power is so busy fighting—he and George Sanders, his villainous uncle, put on a beauty—that it isn't until late in the film that he meets up with his one true love, Gene Tierney.

Miss Tierney, as an exotic Tahitian girl, wins him from the orchidaceous Frances Farmer, a haughty siren whose head rules her heart.

Roddy McDowall, splendid young actor from overseas, plays Ben Blake, the boy who grows up to Tyrone Powers' dimensions.

Others in the excellent cast are Elsa Lanchester, Harry Davenport and John Carradine.

For a co-feature there is "Right to the Heart," romantic comedy with Brenda Joyce, Joseph Allen, Jr.; Cobina Wright, Jr., and Stanley Clements.

—"GIVE—UNITED WAR FUND"—

Air Raid Film At Old South

"The Goofer" is a new character that may soon become familiar in our best air-raid circles, according to "March of Time," now showing at the Old South Newsreel Theater. Called "When Air Raids Strike in 1942," it demonstrates the American precautions being taken, as copied from London and other cities in England.

Much attention is given to the "Goofer," which the films reveal as a London pest who insists on coming out of an air raid shelter before the raid is over—just for the excitement of watching the bombs drop, ignoring all advice of the wardens to stay within safety until the "all clear" is sounded.

Many valuable lessons as to what to do at home in case of an air raid may be learned by watching what London's ordinary householder or merchant does to carry out the preparations and instructions of the wardens.

There's the scene showing the right way to drop flat on one's face, and the details of the great civilian army mobilized and equipped for emergencies.

Devices for plane detecting are also shown.

'Shadow of Thin Man' At Beacon Tomorrow

Starting tomorrow, the Beacon screen will offer "The Shadow of the Thin Man," co-starring William Powell and Myrna Loy in the immensely popular mister-and-missus serial, and "Invisible Stripes," with George Raft and Humphrey Bogart.

QUEEN OF RUSSIAN FILMS

Maria Kapustina, famous Russian screen actress who stars in "Girl from Leningrad," film epic of Soviet courage.

Russian Film Held 2d Week

Fine Arts patrons have warmly welcomed "Girl From Leningrad," first Russian picture made at the front and now in its second week at George Kraska's snug playhouse.

A fine tribute to the valiant Russian Red Cross nurses, the film manages to be an authentic close-up of courage on the Russo-Nazi firing line.

Most arresting sequence is that showing white-garbed Red soldiers, face-deep in snow, crawling through the isolated, storm-blanketed country, dragging on sleds or strapped to their backs dynamite to blow up an enemy pill-box.

"Soviet Women," showing women defense workers at home and at the front, and "Golden Mountains," featuring pianist Shostoskovitch

'THE CHOCOLATE SOLDIER' OPENS ON LOEW'S TWIN SCREENS TOMORROW

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, WEDNESDAY, FEB. 4, 1942

New Screen Sweethearts

NELSON EDDY and Rise Stevens in film version of "The Chocolate Soldier," which comes to State and Orpheum screens Thursday.

Rise Stevens, Nelson Eddy Star; New Tarzan Film Is Co-Feature

A new romantic team and the latest chapter in a 25-year-old film serial will share the attention of Loew's State and Orpheum audiences tomorrow when "The Chocolate Soldier" and "Tarzan's Secret Treasure" are to split program honors.

Nelson Eddy, whose screen romancing with Jeanette MacDonold has long pleased the flicker fans, has a new love in "The Chocolate Soldier." She is fascinating Rise Stevens, noted opera star and Metro's newest singing find.

Determined to discover if his glamorous career-girl bride truly loves him, he masquerades as his own rival. For the first time on the screen, Eddy sings in two voices . . . his natural baritone and bass in playing the dual roles.

Miss Stevens, first American girl to portray the tempestuous Delilah in "Samson and Delilah" for the Metropolitan Opera Company in 22 years, sings one of the arias in the picture.

Others in the cast are Nigel Bruce, Florence Bates, Charles Judels and Nydia Westman.

Swinging through the treetops as monarch of his jungle kingdom, Johnny Weismuller returns in "Tarzan's Secret Treasure." Maureen O'Sullivan, the Irish beauty, again plays his scantily clad mate.

ELSIE ROBINSON writes the woman's viewpoint, discusses everyday affairs and problems, regularly in the Boston American.

Four Children Found Alone in Fireless Home

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 4 — The Herbert Kingston family, including four children, have the small second floor apartment of a tenement house on West Exchange st., but for the past two days it was unusually quiet there.

Police, summoned by neighbors, went to the apartment today and in the cold, untidy kitchen found Shirley, 1; Patricia, 3; David, 4, and Herbert, 6, huddled together on the floor, shivering. Their parents were not around.

Later, the father, Herbert, 38, was arrested and booked on a charge of intoxication. The children's mother, police said, left home a few days ago and is believed to be in New York city.

At Rhode Island Hospital doctors treated Shirley for exposure. They examined Patricia who, when found in the kitchen of her home, was unconscious. She was on the verge of pneumonia, they said.

Serious charges against both parents will be made authorities said.

Adolf May Boss Ocean At Bottom

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Distributed by International News Service

When the epic of American courage on the sea is finally told it will make Captain Bligh and his game men look like merry gondoliers.

Included in the American saga are women, children and babies. For Adolf is the first well-poisoner to go to sea.

When the time comes for Adolf to pay the piper the fifes and flutes will be many and shrill.

Some day we will give Adolf a chance to boss the ocean. But he will have to start at the bottom and work his way up.

P. S. The deepest part of the Pacific is off Mindanao. They tell me that about 30,000 Japs did a bit of permanent wading there.

LAFF-A-DAY

"Sure, it looks lifelike, ma. We got pop inside!"

Adolf May Boss Ocean At Bottom

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

When the epic of American courage on the sea is finally told it will make Captain Bligh and his game men look like merry gondoliers.

Included in the American saga are women, children and babies. For Adolf is the first well-poisoner to go to sea.

When the time comes for Adolf to pay the piper the fifes and flutes will be many and shrill.

Some day we will give Adolf a chance to boss the ocean. But he will have to start at the bottom and work his way up.

P. S. The deepest part of the Pacific is off Mindanao. They tell me that about 30,000 Japs did a bit of permanent wading there.

Hyannis in War Time

HYANNIS, Feb. 4—While a jukebox ground out popular tunes, soldiers and sailors danced with their girl friends in a bright spot on the main street here. Now and then a member of the military police from Camp Edwards would step in through the front door, give an approving smile to the merry makers and then go out into the coldness of the night.

The military police are composed of young men, and they would probably have been happier doing one of the modern dances than doing the patrol duties. Duty, however, called for them to work, and so they left the fun making to others.

There was one soldier whom I thought danced better than any of the others. There was rhythm to his every motion. He was tireless and with perfect timing danced on and on. As the dance ended, he walked past the table at which I was seated.

"Hello, Jack," he said. "You don't recognize me."

"From your footwork I would say that you have been a boxer," I replied.

"Joe Grenda of Hartford," was the quick reply. "I am now doing my fighting for Uncle Sam."

Joe was soon sitting at my table along with an Army sergeant.

I asked Joe how the spirit of the soldiers at Camp Edwards was in regard to the war.

"We want to fight the Japs and the Germans," was the quick reply. "The quicker we get into action with them the better."

Soldiers Are Fit

I mentioned that I thought every American soldier would get his greatest thrill if he could be dropped from the skies among Gen. MacArthur's valiant army in the Philippines.

"That is what we would like," interrupted the sergeant. "Joe and all the rest of us. Although Gen. MacArthur has been outnumbered 5 to 1 he has been licking the Japs. What do you think would happen if Gen. MacArthur could fight the Japs on even terms?"

"We'd drive 'em back into the sea and make 'em swim for home," said Joe with a laugh.

The group gathered around the dance floor was composed of young men. They had well set up bodies, bright eyes and were in fine physical condition. If it had not been for their Army uniforms, one might have taken them for a college football squad.

I thought the Army sergeant sized up the situation well when he said:

"We would like to get at the Japs and at the Germans as quickly as possible and get this war over with, but we must be patient as the war area includes thousands of miles."

The sergeant took a pencil and on the tablecloth (in true newspaper fashion) he drew a map of the Atlantic, Pacific and other war areas.

"It takes time to set up an attack on any of these areas," said the sergeant. "One must have ships, planes, men, food and war equipment. We are getting rolling everywhere, and soon we will be on our way, on all front to an all out victory."

MacArthur Hero

The jukebox was grinding out a lively dance tune. Joe left our table to resume dancing.

"It is kids like Joe that give the Army spirit," said the sergeant. "That boy would tackle a machine gun with only eight ounce gloves for a weapon. We have a fine lot of kids. Pearl Harbor gave them the spirit they needed. Before Pearl Harbor they were restless. They were anxious to get out of the Army or to get into war so that they would have an objective.

"General MacArthur is the hero of the Army. Every mother's son in the Army reads every line of information from the Philippines. They would like to be tossing hot shells at the Japs."

Giant Sailor

A group of sailors came into the place. One of them was a handsome giant. He was about six feet two inches tall, and weighed 190 pounds. He was 21 to 22 years of age, and had blond hair and clear, white skin. He reminded me of Ernie Schaaf when the latter came out of the Navy to become a famous heavyweight boxer.

The boy seated himself at a table with his pals. He ordered a soft drink and a piece of pie. The music and the dancing retained the interest of the sailors.

A few natives dropped into the place after the movies closed. As the jukebox played and the soldiers danced, the sailors sang one of the popular songs. They sang like the ball players and college track athletes do as they tour the country. It was youth seeking an outlet for hearts that were filled with laughter.

"I like soldiers and sailors who can sing especially when they are going into battle," said the sergeant. "American boys always do. In the last war our soldiers in France sang as they marched up to take their places in the trenches. Tonight I can close my eyes and let my imagination take me into the front line positions with General MacArthur's men. I can hear some of them singing in low tones as they wait for enemy attacks. They are singing the songs which as kids they learned in American schools and colleges.

Wants Action

"And when thousands of other American boys march up to the lines they will be singing too. They will also sing on the way back home on the transports, and as they parade later in their home towns. What a reception New York will give to the heroes of Wake Island and to Gen. MacArthur's men. It will be the greatest in all history.

"I'm getting restless. I would like to get going. I went to get this thing over."

The sergeant took out his pocket book and from it took a picture. It was a picture of a young woman and three children, two boys and a girl.

"I guess they will be pretty proud of me when I come home after this is over. That's the boss and our three kids," said the sergeant.

I kept my eyes glued on Joe who was putting on one of his best dance exhibitions. The sergeant coughed a bit and blew his nose hard.

I stepped out into the night. The wind swept in from off the Cape and made pictures of ice on the panes of glass of the place I had left. I could still hear the music from the jukebox, and thrilled at the spirit of American youth.

BASEBALL RESPONSE IN CRISIS BLASTED

By BOB CONSIDINE

This is no time to start weeping over the fallen arches of baseball writers, most of whom were born with flat feet.

But we'll just point out that a couple of dozen of us stood for six or eight hours outside of the American and National League conference rooms Monday, waiting for some word from within.

And when at last the owners deemed it time to toss out a crumb of information we all, from force of habit, pounced on said crumb (two all-star games) and knocked out our ersatz brains on the nearest typewriters.

Which, after all, is why we're paid. Bunt this one kept thinking, even in the rapture of creating a ream of living prose on the fact that the baseball boys were going to spend 10 per cent of their salaries on defense bonds, if they felt like it, that the papers once again were playing the part of suckers.

IT'S A BUSINESS

We were stooging for the umpteenth million time for a soulless sports business which is doing precious little to justify its role as recipient of an astonishing blessing from the President. Mind you, we're not calling for the eradication of baseball. That would be cutting off our nose to spite our face—and cutting off this particular nose is no longer a project within the realm of possibility, since Gutzon Borglum's death.

But it's high time the baseball owners realized how incredibly lucky they are to have manipulated their business into the public trust brackets.

They should be so grateful for the kind things the President has said about their monopoly, and the zeal of the press to transmit even their tritest actions to the public, that they should drop their age-old pomposities.

Most of all, they should have done more for the government which could obliterate them with the wave of a hand.

STAND HARD TO TAKE

The owners' determination to provide bats and balls for the boys in training camps is a laudable one, of course.

But their lengthy, behind-guarded-doors discussions over whether to adopt the President's request for more night games, and the general impression most of them give that it is only out of the goodness of their hearts that they are letting the public in on their racket, is pretty hard to take these days.

The average owner has come to regard the average reporter who

Bruins Face N. L. Slump

By BILL GRIMES

After tieing up the game in the third period, the Chicago Black Hawks popped in a couple of goals in overtime to beat the Bruins, 5 to 3, last night at the Boston Garden.

Coupled with the Rangers' overtime victory over the Americans, the defeat dropped the Rossmen into second place. And, unless the Bruins display a better brand of hockey than they've shown in their last two home games, it's doubtful if they'll be able to regain the pacemaking berth.

LO PRESTI STARS

Although Red Hamill and Mush March each beat Frankie Brimsek for two goals, Sam Lo Presti was the star of the game. With about 2½ minutes to play in the second period, Lo Presti was cut when he dove to prevent Bobby Bauer from converting a rebound. The Hawks' goalie was a trifle late and Bauer got off the shot. The puck hit Lo Presti on the forehead and it required six stitches to close the wound

After a 20-minute intermission, Lo Presti insisted upon returning to the game, although Paul Gauthier, who is the Hawks' spare goalie, was dressed and ready to take over. Despite the large patch over his eye, Lo Presti was even more effective in the third and overtime periods than he was prior to the accident.

LETDOWN WITHOUT KRAUTS

As there were two minutes and 25 seconds to play in the second period when Lo Presti was laid low, the unexpired time was added to the third chapter. The Bruins were held scoreless for the last two periods during which Lo Presti displayed remarkable courage. And it was because of Lo Presti's exhibition of gameness that the fans were not too disappointed over the Bruins' setback.

The Krauts turned in another star-studded performance. They were so spectacular and effective that the Bruins appeared to let down whenever they were off the ice.

Date Set for Bruins' Benefit Game

OTTAWA, Feb. 4 (AP)—The Boston Bruins of the National League will meet the Royal Canadian Airforce senior amateur team in a RCAF benefit game here Feb. 17, according to word received today from Boston.

The game, either with a Canadian team recruited from amateur or professional ranks, originally was scheduled for next week but the RCAF asked a postponement.

Art Ross, manager of the Bruins, said he understood that the Bruins' famous Kraut line of Milton Schmidt, Bobby Bauer and Woody Dumart would play with the Canadian team.

Rutgers Grid Staff Offers To Join Navy

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Feb. 4 (AP)—Harvey Harman, head football coach at Rutgers University, and three members of his gridiron staff today offered their services to the Navy as physical instructors in the Navy's recently announced aviation program.

Eddie Masavage, backfield coach; Dave Bender, freshman coach, and Tom Kenneally, lightweight mentor who also guides freshman basketball and LaCrosse teams, were recommended by Little to Lieut.-Comdr. Tom Hamilton, supervisor of the naval physical program.

Harman played tackle at the University of Pittsburgh as an undergraduate in 1918 under Glen (Pop) Warner. During his four years there he failed to be in the starting lineup but twice.

He assumed the coaching reign at Haverford College in 1922 and left there for Sewanee (the university of the south) in 1930. He was released from his contract in 1931 to become head coach at the University of Pennsylvania. He resigned from that position in December, 1937, and assumed his present duties in 1938.

ROSS BLASTS PUBLICITY KNOCKING KRAUTS

"The Bruins didn't look so well without 'Dit' Clapper and Bill Cowley," declared Manager Paul Thompson after his Hawks had slapped down the Rossmen, 5 to 3, last night in overtime . . .

"You can't take Clappers and Cowleys out of any lineup and hope to click" . . . The Hawks have their eyes on second place, and unless the Rossmen and Maple Leafs snap out of slumps they're better than an even bet to finish behind the Rangers.

The Krauts turned in another great performance but the club lets down whenever they take a "breather" . . . Paul Gauthier, the Bruins' spare goalie, who dressed when Sam LoPresti was hurt just before the close of the second period, had never seen the Krauts in action . . . They're tops with him . . . Lo-Presti lived up to Thompson's prediction that he has plenty of intestinal fortitude . . . Drs. Martin J. Crotty and Thomas A. Kelley put no less than six stitches in LoPresti's forehead . . . Sam insisted on returning to the firing line and he held the Rossmen scoreless for 32 minutes and 25 seconds.

BRUINS DOWNHEARTED

"Red" Hamill was walking on air after the game . . . He came up with two goals and if there's any club he takes particular delight in scoring on, it's the Bruins, who sold him to Chicago . . . Mush March, a real veteran, played an important role in the Hawks' victory . . . He tied the count in the third period and broke the deadlock in overtime . . . You could have heard a pin drop in the Boston dressing room after the game . . . The Bruins were as downhearted as a college club which had blown a major game . . .

Among those who sat in on the Bruins' defeat were Mike Holovak, Frankie Maznicki, Ed Doherty and Don Currivan of Boston College football fame . . . And, also Serg. Teddy Quinn of the U. S. A. the well known golfer from the "Settlement" . . .

KRAUTS HAD NO CHOICE

At the pre-game dinner, Manager Art Ross announced that the trophy he donated to the N. H. L. will not be presented to a player until after the war . . . He also stated that the Bruins had no intention of retiring Nos. 14, 15 and 17 which the Krauts have worn since they joined the club . . . He said that when the Krauts returned they would be awarded bigger and better numbers . . . "And, God willing, the Krauts will be back with us" . . . Then, he came to the defense of Bobby Bauer, Milt Schmidt and Woody Dumart . . . He didn't like the publicity released in Montreal concerning the Krauts . . . Like many others, Ross felt that the publicity pertaining to Bobby being a radio technician, Milt a physical instructor and Woody an accountant indicated they were given soft jobs in the service.

The truth is that Bauer passed a pilot's test, Dumart failed because of poor eyesight and Schmidt didn't have enough academic credits for admission . . . Bauer will be a bomb sighter . . . The Krauts haven't been given a square shake by some writers . . . There are no better kids in any branch of sports than Bauer, Schmidt and Dumart

America's Leading Ski Jumper Joins Naval Air Corps

ISHPEMING, Mich., Feb. 4 (AP)—Walter Bietila, who gained national fame by taking off from high places and soaring far, is going even a little higher in the air.

The 25-year-old Walter, rated the best American-born ski jumper last year, has joined the Naval Air Corps and will report for duty Feb. 12.

His departure, and that of his brother, Roy, 21, who plans to join the Marines or Navy soon, will break up the famed Bietila brothers skiing team that has been prominent in jumping tournaments for more than a decade.

Their leaving will place on the shoulders of 17-year-old Ralph, last of the six brothers and national junior champion last year, the burden of carrying on the Bietila name.

3 YOUNGSTERS IN OFFING

But it may not be for long, because there's another generation of Bietilas coming along—sons of two of the brothers. The sons are only 6 and 7 years old now, but they are skiing already and will be jumping in touraments soon. They learn early in this family.

The six brothers—Anselm, Leonard, Walter, Paul, Ray and Ralph—were taught to ski by their father, Jacob, soon after they had learned to walk.

When each boy was 4 years old, Jacob, who had learned skiing on the hills of Finland, fashioned a pair of skis for him and guided him off a small hill near their home. By the time they were 10 the brothers were jumping off "Suicide Hill," a steep slide, here. They started to win tournament honors in their teens.

Anslem and Leonard, 34 and 32, respectively, were the first to gain fame for the family through tournament victories. Both have retired from competition now and live here. They have the sons who are learning to ski.

WALTER BADGER STAR

Walter was the third brother. He gained fame as an athlete at the University of Wisconsin, from which he was graduated in 1939, and in ski tournaments all over the country. In 1940, he was rated third behind Torge Tokle and Alf Engen in national listings. His best known jump was 270 feet.

Next was Paul, two years younger than Walter. Paul died two days before his 21st birthday of injuries received while ski jumping in 1939. At the time of his death, Paul, a student at Wisconsin, was intercollegiate champion and had jumps up to 250 feet to his credit.

Ray's best jump in competition was 252 feet, although he has done better than 270 on big slides in northern Michigan. Ralph's best competitive jump was 225 feet; his longest in practice, 260 feet.

Alsab's Owner Balks at Weight

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 4 (AP)—Al Sabath, learning that his spectacular 3-year-old, Alsab, had been top-weighted at 128 pounds, said today his "present inclination" was to withdraw him from the $5000 Bahamas Handicap at Hialeah Park Saturday.

The race had been expected to produce another stirring duel between Alsab and his closest rival for 1941 juvenile honors, B. F. Whitaker's Requested. Requested drew the second impost of 121.

"We simply think 128 pounds is too much weight to ask a horse to carry in his first start as a 3-year-old," said Sabath. "The usual scale is 126, and I simply won't ask Alsab to take that much punishment."

The Bahamas is the first major test of the year for the 3-year-olds.

Trapshooting Good Training For Air Gunner

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 4 (AP)—American kids, says veteran trapshoot expert Joe Heistand, ought to make the best aerial gunners in the world "because they've learned almost from childhood how to shoot quickly."

"From what pursuit fliers say about it, I believe almost any good trapshooter could make a good air gunner—provided, of course, he had the high degree of courage necessary," explained the Hillsboro, O., ace, whose feat of breaking 1179 successive targets stands as a world's record.

"The same qualities are needed in both—you have only a split second when you're on the target. You've got to get your shots away fast—that means that in both you need speedy co-ordination of mind, eye and muscle. It's a cinch you can't be very deliberate about either one."

Bird hunting—a pastime of thousands of American youngsters—probably is only slightly less effective than trapshooting for developing the ability to shoot quickly and accurately, Heistand believes.

Best of Grid Talent In Service—Bierman

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Feb. 4 (AP)—Maj. Bernie Bierman, Minnesota coach now on duty with the Marines at Quantico, Va., foresees no change in football in 1942 as a result of the war except a possible "cut-down in quality."

"We probably will have just as many boys playing," the major said in an interview, "but some of our best talent will be lost to the armed forces of Uncle Sam."

JOCKEY JAMES LEADING RIDER AT HIALEAH

By The Associated Press

Dr. J. Garland Catlett, supervising veterinarian for the Florida and New York State racing commissions, joins the United States Army next Monday.

Dr. Catlett, a lieutenant-colonel in the Veterinarian Reserve Corps, will report to the western remount area headquarters at San Mateo, Cal.

He will be succeeded at Hialeah Park by Dr. Earl D. Clawson, his associate for more than 20 years. Catlett graduated from the United States College of Veterinary Surgeons in 1916 at Washington, D. C., and served in World War No. 1.

Since then he has been active in the reserves and last fall was called to temporary active duty during the maneuvers in the Carolinas.

Basil James and Conn McCreary, who are dueling for the lead among the full-fledged jockeys at Hialeah, fought it out all the way in a mile and a sixteenth turf course event yesterday with McCreary's mount, Anonymous, finishing first by a head.

The judges, however, disqualified Anonymous and placed him second. The switch lifted James' horse, El Toreador, to first place and gave him a double for the day. It also put him out in front, 15 winners to 12.

Sterling Young, veteran jockey, will resume riding tomorrow, according to present plans. Young was thrown in a race near the close of the Tropical Park meeting and suffered a slight concussion. He will ride for Col. E. R. Bradley.

The camera recorded one of racing's rarities at Havana yesterday, catching a double dead heat.

The picture-machine caught Miss Sokolo and Aevous Queen hitting the wire together at the end of Oriental Park's third race and a length and a half to the rear saw On Wisconsin and Chicken Lady stride for stride.

The winner in Hialeah's Spanish Village test of one mile was another outsider with By Conscript, the betting choice, tiring rapidly at the top of the stretch and finishing fourth.

Top money went to Jake Freedman's Wood Robin, a Flamingo Stakes candidate, in 1:39 4-5. S. E. Pershall's Florizan Beau and the Circle M. Ranch's Sir War finished in the dead heat for the place.

DETROIT, Feb. 4 (INS)—The condition of Elden Auker, pitcher for the St. Louis Browns, was reported as "very satisfactory" today by physicians at Henry Ford Hospital where Auker was taken following a three-car auto collision.

The former Detroit Tiger twirler suffered head and chest injuries and attendant physicians said X-rays revealed no fractures. Auker is expected to remain in the hospital for at least a week.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN Sports by Herb Finnegan

Another Bubble Bursts for Fallon

A classmate of mine, who used to have a penchant for getting 59's when 60 was passing, used to look at his report and moan: "If it was raining soup I'd be outside with a fork."

That seems to be the way with Charlie Fallon, 1937 Boston College baseball captain, who has been spending the intervening years in the far flung Yankee chain.

CHARLES FALLON

Charlie is as slick a receiver as you'd want to gaze upon. "A dead ringer for Rick Ferrell," they used to say when he'd catch for the Newark club against the Sox at Sarasota.

Not too robust a hitter, but better than several big leaguers we could name.

Charlie started his pro career with Norfolk of the Piedmont League upon graduation in '37 and stayed there through '38. (Phil Rizzuto and Gerry Priddy were on the same club with him in '38.)

Charlie skipped up to Binghamton of the Eastern League in '39, Knoxville of the Southern Ass'n in '40 and to Seattle of the Pacific Coast League in '41.

We've seen him in action in the southland and have heard his work lauded by others.

We've often wondered why the Braves, who have been depending on Berres and Masi, and the Red Sox, who have been depending on Peacock, Pytlak and their ilk, never grabbed the clean living Quincy boy.

It seems he could very nicely have been a major leaguer two years back.

Make or Break

But Charlie's not moaning about that. He has enjoyed his five years with the Yankees and has learned a lot of baseball. In fact he's doing no moaning at all. It's the writer. And here's why.

Charlie had a bangup year with Seattle. In fact he was rated so highly by his manager, Bill Skiff, that he was told to pack up and join the Yanks last summer when Dickey was hurt, then told to unpack when Dickey kept playing despite his injury.

This was to be his MAKE-OR-BREAK year. He was to stick with Newark with a fine chance of breaking in with the Yanks. (Dickey is ageing, Sylvestri is in the Army.)

BOYHOOD DREAMS REALIZED. The AMBITION OF A LIFETIME. All those years in the horse and buggy leagues were not spent in vain. YIPPEE!

Stymied Again

But wait a minute, Charlie Fallon. You weren't born under a lucky star. No siree. Uncle Sam wants you. You're in Class 1-A.

"Okay," says Charlie, "I'll join the air corps."

"You just think you will," says Mr. Jinx. "You're 27, a year above the age limit."

"Well, I'm a college graduate. I'll get a commission in the Navy."

"No you won't," says the jinx. "You didn't take any math, trig or calculus in college. You passed all that in high school.

"You were too smart for your own good. But you haven't got any math on your college records, and so under the Navy code you haven't got any math at all."

"I'll be a physical instructor under Gene Tunney," said Charlie.

"You just think you will," says the jinx. "There's too much talk about ball players getting soft jobs, and the Yankees won't endorse that sort of thing."

"Go into a shipyard, you dope," his friends advise. "You live only a stone's throw from Fore River. Go down there and make yourself $125 a week, and get a deferred classification in the draft."

"No," replied Charlie. "I'm ducking nothing. I'll just stick around until they call me if I can't enlist where I please."

"Great work," says the jinx. "I was hoping you'd do that. Because Uncle Sam is ordering you to report on March 1, just when you'd be packing up to join the Newark club at tropical Sebring, Fla. I hope you land in Iceland. Heh, heh!"

That's just Charlie Fallon's case. How many hundreds of other embryonic major leaguers are in the same boat? And how many of them ever will put on a glove again professionally after this war?

Hansen Choice To Pin Cox In Arena Bout

Bill Hansen, Salt Lake City grappler, will rule a slight favorite to avenge his defeat at the hands of Joe Cox, Kansas, when the pair clash in the main bout of Promoter Paul Bowser's weekly wrestling show at the Arena tonight.

Hansen has fully recovered from an arm injury he received in a previous match against Cox when he fell out of the ring and is ready to even up the count with one of the outstanding "bad" men of the circuit.

In the semi-final, Marvin Westenberg, former world's champion, will take on Chief Osley Saunooke, 300-pound Cherokee Indian. The boys, both rough and nasty, may provide more excitement for the fans than the main bout.

Les Ryan, the former Fordham football flash, will try to unmask El Diablo, the mysterious gent, in a special bout.

SWISS SKATERS WILL CONVULSE GARDEN FANS

A pair of Swiss university students used to amuse themselves by ice skating in their spare time. Now, transferring their blade gyrations from secluded European ponds to the rinks of America, Frick and Frack amuse thousands as stars of the dazzling "Ice Follies of 1942," to be held at Boston Garden Feb. 11 through Washington's Birthday.

As absent-minded professors, the Swiss comedy team has added to an already brimming repertoire of comedy antics to bring their current act to new heights of laugh value.

A scant six years ago Werner Greebli was mastering architecture and engineering at the University of Zurich. As Frick, his present mastery of the sensational cantilever spread-eagle provides one of the high spots in the current ice revue.

Rice to Chase Lash's Record In B.A.A. Meet

Gregory Rice, No. 1 track figure in America, has sent along his entry for the Billings two-mile run, one of the features of the 53d annual B. A. A. meet which will be held at the Garden one week from Saturday.

The former Notre Dame idol, now sporting the colors of the New York A. C., carried away the Billings trophy when he won his third leg in 9:55. He will be seeking his first leg on the new one.

Rice has more than the first leg of the cup to win. Don Lash set up a world record of 8m. 55s when he won the Billings two-mile in the 1937 B. A. A. games. Rice since has lowered the record to 8m 51.1 but that came about in Chicago. He has never bettered Lash's Boston mark. He will attempt to lower it next week here.

H may be able to do it, too, because he's certain of some stiff ring competition. For example, Bob Nichols of Rhode Island, cross-country and two-mile college king, will be in the field against him.

Baseball Magnates' 1942 Plans Blasted

follows that team as a necessary evil.

The average owner prefers an older, mellowed type of reporter, or a youth of the hot-blooded fan type, who will burble sweet nothings by the month, except when insulting rival teams in order to build up home gates.

A couple of years ago, the Cincinnati Enquirer decided to send a cameraman to Tampa for the Reds' spring training season. It cost the paper a lot of mony, not only to have the man there but to present his staff in the distinguished old paper.

CLUB OFFICIAL CONDESCENDS

But this gesture did not go unrewarded. The ABC figures showed no breath-taking rise in circulation figures, but one of the officials of the Cincinnati club happened to mention to an Enquirer official one day that sending the photographer to the Reds' camp "was a great thing for the paper. Ought to put your sheet over."

It honestly never occured to the bloke that sending the photographer there was a right nice thing for the ball club, too.

To repeat, this is no plea to uproot the equestrian statue of Sherman and plant there a bronze of a baseball writer waiting for an owner to snap his fingers and summon him for an important interview bearing on the future financial welfare of the owner.

We think too many of us have been so overcome by the false stature of baseball owners that we have become obedient employes instead of independent thinkers and dispensers of criticism when criticism is due.

IT'S NO DISTINCTION

Too many of us retain the fan's ingrained belief that to be spoken to by a ballplayer, manager or owner constitutes a kind of badge of distinction.

A few too many of us are shilling for jobs within the business scheme of baseball—and have been since baseball writers began jacking up cold-blooded owners on pedestals 50 years ago.

What we started out to say was that the owners, whose "war council" has ended, should consider themselves more lucky than essential. And they should quit trying to impress aloofly on press and public the feeling that they are pretty darn noble when they provide bats and balls for the boys in blue and khaki.

We think they should have set aside the receipts of a game a week for this and that war chest, that the 10 per cent defense bond part of their incomes should have been made mandatory and that they should have come down off their high horses long enough to act their true role: that of business men who have been given a break which no other business men will get for a long time to come.

HIGH SCORER—Here's one Tommie Tucker who doesn't have to sing for his supper. He's Tommie Tucker Burlington, Sea Gull pivotman, whose team faces Olympics at Garden tonight. Burlington is the league's leading scorer with 73 points.

WEAKENED PICS TACKLE GULLS

Coach Hago Harrington will be forced to get along with only three defensemen tonight when the Olympics meet the Atlantic City Sea Gulls at the Garden.

With Al Yourkewicz gone, Harrington decided to use his present setup working his men double time. Bob Mee, the former Boston College star who has worked out with them occasionally, will not play in place of Yourky tonight, but he is expected to rejoin the club in the near future.

It is also reported that Ty Anderson, who was injured in both the River Vale and New York Rovers games over the week-end, has not recovered sufficiently, but in all probability he will be at his defense post with Clare Martin.

The Junior Olympics are also scheduled to play tonight in a preliminary game with the Springfield Braves, starting at 6 o'clock.

Skier Billy Beck, 12, Future U. S. Champ

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

PLYMOUTH, N. H., Feb. 4—A skiing sensation at the age of 12 is little curly-haired Billy Beck, team mate of the famous Cole brothers of this town.

Billy's father, William LeBaron Beck, is the certified ski instructor now running the All-American Ski School at Tim Healey's Western Slopes Lodge. Mrs. Beck also gives instruction in the ski school. So Billy comes from a real skiing family.

When Billy ran a slalom on Cranmore Mountain two weeks ago, Hannes Schneider declared that the youngster would develop into one of America's future champions.

It was in this giant slalom that the Plymouth ski team composed of Billy and Eddie and Ollie Cole, 15 and 17, respectively, and 19-year-old John Hibbard, won the men's team trophy in a field of 26 teams. Billy, who looks like a cherub cutting Christies, placed 20th against an array of over 100 club and college runners. A remarkable feat for such a lad!

WON PIN AT EIGHT

This junior racer started to ski as soon as he could walk in a hole in the ground—an old cellar excavation near his home. Thus, he literally started at the bottom and worked his way to the top.

At the age of eight Billy won a silver pin in one of Wendy Hilty's standard slalom runs at Plymouth. He also made eight runs down the Cannon Mountain trail in one day. The following year the flying juvenile captured his silver Cannon on this trail in the remarkable time of three minutes and 19 seconds.

When he was 11, his dad took him to the very top of Mount Washington with Eddie and Ollie Cole. At the summit, four pairs of skies were pointed straight down. Traveling at high speed through the clouds, this group traversed the Cone and dropped in trails of powder over the Tuckerman Ravine headwall, continuing down the Sherburne Trail into Pinkham Notch. Billy is the youngest boy to have ever made this four and one-half miles descent on skis.

COACHES R. I. GRIDDERS

The father of this skiing prodigy commenced his own schussing on barrel staves at the age of seven at Everett, Mass. He took his first real lesson from Sig Buchmayr at Peckett's in Sugar Hill in 1932.

An all-around athlete, Bill captained the Everett High School football team. At Rhode Island State, he played every minute of every game.

For several years, the bronzed and wiry skier taught at Holderness Prep School, also coaching hockey and baseball. Incidentally, he has been a swimming instructor and life saver during his athletic career.

Bill is now head coach of football at Rhode Island State and is a professor of physical education. His coaching experience and ability have provided the foundation necessary to make him an excellent and thorough ski instructor.

HEISTAND NEAR PERFECT

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 4 (AP)—Joe Heistand, Hillsboro, O., star, broke 99x100 targets yesterday to win the class championship of the Peckaway Club's annual trapshoot. He cracked 93 straight, missed one, and finished out his string.

Jeffries Rates Fitzsimmons Greatest Heavy

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 4 (AP)—It's easy to start a discussion among fight followers about the relative merits of great pugilists of the past, and James J. Jeffries, ardent fan of today and great champ of yesterday, is no exception.

For instance, he rates Bob Fitzsimmons as the greatest fighter who ever lived. (Jeffries toppled Fitz from the heavyweight throne June 9, 1899, and retired undefeated).

A team of amateurs from Jeffries' barn at Burbank Cal., dropped five of seven bouts with the pick of Arizona amateurs in a fight card last night.

As to Fitzsimmons—"I think he could have taken Jack Dempsey—he would have outsmarted him."

Louis?

"Right now he would give anybody a battle," replied Jeffries. "He's in the greatest condition of his career—and condition tells the story."

GREEN TOP HOCKEY TEAM; BC LEAGUE ACE

After two successive nights of competition in Boston, Dartmouth appears headed for the mythical national collegiate hockey championship while Boston College is a lead pipe cinch to clinch its third straight Intercollegiate League title.

Dartmouth removed the Eagles from the national championship picture Monday night at the Garden. Northeastern, however, failed to remove B. C. from the N. E. championship picture last night at the Arena. On the same program Dartmouth posted a routine, 8-3, victory over a weak Boston University six, the conquest being the Indians' 13th in 15 starts.

IDLE FOR WEEK

B. C.'s margin of victory over Northeastern was 9-5. This was a gruelling, rough and ready struggle in which 22 penalties were handed out.

The Eagles now remain idle until next Tuesday night when they go against Boston University in a return bout at the Arena.

Capt. Ralph Powers, Wally Boudreau, Jim Edgeworth and George Malone paced B. C. to its important triumph over a Husky six which had it won would have been in perfect position to annex its initial N. E. loop title.

FOUR GOALS IN 5 MINUTES

Boudreau scored four goals and assisted once; Edgeworth picked up a pair of goals and two assists and Malone tallied once. Jack Carder, Bob Fernberg, Bob Maker and Bill Hutchinson shared the Northeastern total, Maker getting a pair.

While Dartmouth, paced by its sensational sophomore "Bomber Line"—Dick Rondeau, Bill Harrison and Jack Riley—had little trouble slamming B. U., the John Kelley coached Boston College six had to pound four goals in the final five minutes of play to chalk its sixth straight N. E. League triumph.

Pacific "Offensive Patrol"—Approved by the Navy Department, this picture—AND OTHERS ON CENTER PAGES—was taken by an International News Photograph Service cameraman during an "offensive patrol" in the Pacific. These planes, flying over units of the Pacific fleet, are hunting Japanese naval units. Of his flight, the cameraman said, "It wasn't just a play cruise . . . I had to stay up for hours on regular long searches . . . I had to man the rear cockpit gun."
